TRUMAN KEEPS HANDS OFF IN COAL QUARREL

President Leaves Threat of Nation-Wide Mine Strike Squarely Up to Krug.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman left the threat of another nation-wide soft coal strike squarely up to Secretary of Interior Krug today.

Mr. Truman declined to discuss John L. Lewis' ultimatum for a reopening of the United Mine Workers' contract at his news conference.

The president likewise declined to comment on questions as to his plans on continued wage controls, telling reporters to read his speech of Oct. 14 lifting price ceilings from meat.

Meanwhile, Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug expressed doubt that the miners will quit their jobs on November 1—as John L. Lewis has intimated—unless a conference on new wage demands begins in Washington on that date.

* * *

Lewis Sets Date.

In emphatic terms, Lewis has set a November 1 deadline for reopening negotiations, declaring that otherwise the government's contract with his United Mine Workers union will be "void." By tradition, that would mean a strike, since the miners follow a "no contract, no work" policy.

"I don't see how I can be there November 1," Krug told newsmen last night in Boulder City, Nev.

"But I don't think they will walk out. After all, the time and place of the meeting have been set."

* * *

Offers To Meet.

Krug did not specify either the time or place "set"—one of the major points in dispute—and presumably referred only to the fact that he has offered to meet Lewis either at Tule Lake, Calif. on November 1 or in Washington after November 6 when his western inspection tour is due to end.

While Lewis himself remained silent, William Blizzard, president of the United Mine Workers District 17 assailed what he termed the government's one-sided interpretation of the existing contract as "a plot by unscrupulous members of the Democratic party to destroy our union."

PILOTS AGREE TO MEDIATION

Impasse Continues in Ship Strike Negotiations.

(By Associated Press)

Major developments in the strike by 1,400 Trans World airline pilots which has made idle an additional 15,000 employes, centered in Washington today. In the wage dispute involving TWA pilots both sides accepted a federal mediation offer.

In the nationwide shipping strike, negotiations continued between operators and deck officers as CIO marine engineers counted votes on ratification of a settlement on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts of their work stoppage.

Capt. William C. Ash, co-chairman of the negotiators for the AFL masters, mates and pilots said after yesterday's sessions "We are still at an impasse so far as the main issue of employment for masters and masters' earnings are concerned."

In other labor disputes:

At Flat River, Mo., production at the St. Joseph Lead company, one of the world's largest lead mining companies, halted when 3,400 employes left their jobs after demanding arbitration of a dispute over discharge of one worker.

In Louisville, Ky., production at the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation plant was resumed following settlement of a 26-day-old strike by 4,700 employes.

Continuing disputes included the two weeks' old strike by some 5,000 service employes at 18 of Washington's leading hotels, a bus tieup in Chicago, a transit walkout in Columbus, O., and the month-long AFL jurisdictional strike at the movie studios in Hollywood.

COLLEGE GETS BUILDINGS

HIRAM — (AP) — Hiram college has been allotted a classroom building, drafting office, study room, lunch room and recreation room from surplus government-owned buildings, the federal works agency announced today.

Fund Drive Extended Five Days

Goal	$94,067
Raised	$86,868
Needed	$7,199

Mansfield's $94,067 Community Fund campaign, still $7,199 short of the goal, has been extended to Monday at 9 p. m., W. E. Slabaugh, jr., general campaign chairman, announced today.

At the official close of the drive at 9 p. m. yesterday, solicitations had reached $84,852. Slabaugh said that the drive was extended at the request of workers who had promises of more donations Monday. He added that a survey of the workers' report cards last night gave every indication that the drive goal would be met the first of the week.

Today's total was up $2,00 to $86,868. All but three of the 10 uptown divisions reported receipts over their quotas with the women's division leading with $7,025.

* * *

2 MORE UPTOWN GROUPS OVER TOP

Uptown groups over the top today were construction, headed by C. C. Tansel, and public employes, led by Norman L. Wolfe. Tansel turned in $3,511, or $501 over the quota.

Slabaugh said that the public employes' totals of $1,401, $119 over the goal, signaled the first time in the history of the Community Fund that the division either met or exceeded its quota.

Additional team leaders in the women's division to make their goals are: Mrs. Ivor Balyeat, Mrs. Fred B. Hout, Mrs. Ralph Constance, Mrs. Henry Talmage, Mrs. G. Fred Wadsworth, Mrs. G. R. Varner, Mrs. Maurice Browarsky and Mrs. Ralph Emerson.

Industry, which has lagged in the campaign, is still $14,373 short of the goal of $63,000.

CAR HITS BRIDGE, MOTORIST DIES

West Virginia Man Killed Near Fredericktown.

One man was fatally hurt and another slightly injured in traffic accidents in the Mansfield area yesterday.

George A. Call, 35, of Bluefield, W. Va., was fatally injured when his car struck the Jewel bridge about one mile south of Fredericktown at 9:45 p. m. yesterday. Call died on the way to the Mercy hospital at Mt. Vernon and his body was taken to the Meredith funeral home, Fredericktown. It will be taken to Bluefield for burial.

The car in which Call was riding turned over and burned.

Slightly injured was Claude Pierce, 20, of Edison, R. D. 1, when a car driven by Nelson Clinger, 19, of Cardington, R. D. 2, collided with one driven by Robert C. Neal of Cleveland. The accident occurred south of Lexington on U. S. Route 42, the sheriff's office reported today.

Pierce was treated at General hospital and released.

Recreation Vote Must Be 65 Per Cent

If Mansfield's recreation facilities are to be brought up to the standards of other cities, comparable in size, voters must approve the two-tenths mill recreation levy by a 65 per cent majority.

Prosecutor Theodore Lutz said today that levies of this type had to have this majority approval. Levies such as the three-mill tax asked to permit an increase in teachers' salaries required only a simple majority.

Both levies will come before voters on the Nov. 5 election.

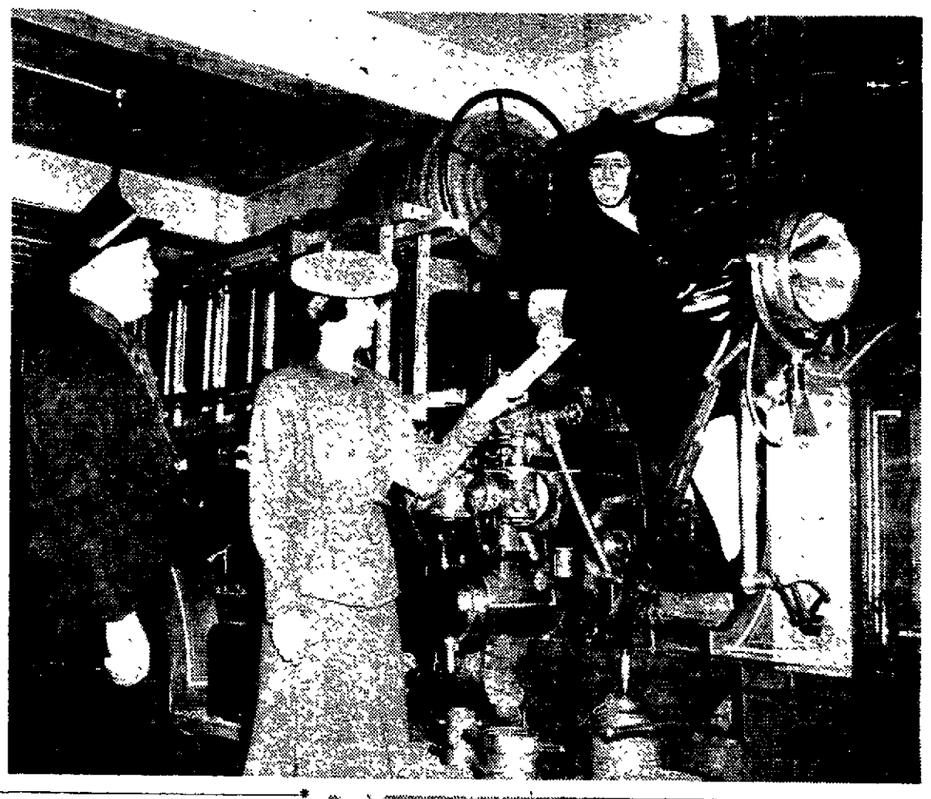
The proposed recreation program would be headed by a trained and experienced director, whose job it would be to set up a year-round program for children and adults alike, using the existing facilities of the city.

Coordinating the program would be a five-man recreation commission appointed by the mayor.

VETS MOVE IN

MONTREAL — (INS) — A gambling house, closed by the police, was occupied today by five war veterans and their families. The vets moved into the vacant "Temple of Chance" with little furniture but with determination. Police made no move to remove the squatters.

City's Homes Face Fuel Famine If Miners Go on Strike Nov. 1



Coal Supplies Running Low

Many of Mansfield's 11,000 homes face cold days if John L. Lewis' 400,000 soft coal miners walk out.

That's the consensus of the more than 30 coal dealers here, a survey by the News-Journal disclosed today.

A majority of Mansfield homes are heated by coal. A few hundred have fuel oil stokers installed, and several thousands use gas heat.

Even Mansfielders using gas heat face possible shortages. Glenn Schooler, manager of the Ohio Fuel Gas company, said if outside temperatures become too low, some neighborhoods will experience low gas pressure.

The coal dealers are pessimestic. In all but a few isolated instances, dealers report low or exhausted stock piles. Many state that voluntary rationing to customers already is in effect.

Only bright spot in the picture is statements from some dealers that many customers ordered coal last summer, and that some have enough fuel stored in coal bins to last through the winter.

Voegele Brothers report coal is being trucked to customers "as fast as we receive it."

"We simply haven't been able to accumulate any stockpile," Frank A. Voegele, manager, said. "We're still taking orders, subject to delivery, but we're forced to give old customers preference.

"If the coal miners walk out, Mansfield will have a severe coal shortage within a few days," he said.

The concern began rationing coal at two tons per delivery several weeks ago, Voegele said. He estimated that 60 to 70 per cent of his regular customers already had placed orders before the rationing plan went into effect, and said many orders already had been filled.

Robert Small, manager of Simon Small and Sons company, reported the concern's coal was being sold "car by car—as fast as it comes in."

* * *

20 Cars Behind.

"We're 20 cars behind last year's shipments, and if there's another coal strike, I don't know what we'll do," he said.

Rusk Brothers said they were "overloaded" with orders and "far behind" on deliveries. The best the company could do, an employe

Vets Speed Housing Job At Mifflin

The Vetsville labor situation took a turn for the better today and by the end of the week officials there hope to have at least 14 apartments occupied.

Non-union veterans who will occupy the apartments have been permitted to work on the project, boosting the labor crew from three to eight in two days.

James L. Zimmerman, project official, said that two more vets were to report for work today and that others are "talking about coming out."

Labor local No. 1216, AFL, has relaxed its regulations to permit non-union veterans to help build the homes they'll live in, Zimmerman said.

The 75-unit project located at Charles Mill lake, has been bogged down for months by a labor shortage and union officials have agreed to the hiring of non-union workers in order to speed its completion.

Zimmerman said that 11 units are now occupied and that by the end of the week three others should be finished.

The project still needs carpenters and painters, Zimmerman said.

GOP PRESENTS ITS CANDIDATES AT TWO RALLIES

Split-Second Timing Slated For Mansfield and Ashland Meetings.

The heavy artillery of the Ohio Republican party candidates in the Nov. 5 election, less than two weeks away, will be trained on Mansfield and Ashland tonight at separate political rallies.

A slate of speakers headed by John W. Bricker, candidate for U. S. senator, and Thomas J. Herbert, gubernatorial candidate, will appear on the twin programs, which have been arranged with split-second timing to enable speakers to commute between Mansfield and Ashland.

Other speakers include J. Harry McGregor, Republican candidate for congress from the 17th district; Don H. Ebright, seeking reelection as state treasurer, and C. B. McClintock of Canton, candidate for the court of appeals, Fifth district.

Local Candidates Too.

Ralph Hardy, chairman of the Republican county executive committee, said several local Republican candidates also will speak at the Mansfield rally. They include C. L. Shoup, the party representative seeking a county commissioner seat.

The Mansfield rally will be held at the John Simpson junior high school auditorium, starting at 7:45 p. m. Ashland's Republicans will meet at the high school auditorium there at 7:30.

Herbert is scheduled to arrive in Mansfield at 7:45 p. m. At 8:15 he will leave for Ashland for another talk there.

Bricker will attend the meeting here until 8:30, when he will drive to Ashland to speak at the rally there.

McGregor first will speak at the Ashland meeting. He will leave there at 8:05 in order to speak at the Mansfield rally at approximately 8:30.

Judge Herbert H. Schettler, judge of the Mansfield municipal court, will act as chairman.

McGregor's Stand Assailed by Purdy

Wesley W. Purdy, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 17th district, declared at a rally in Newark last night that Congressman J. Harry McGregor was "a reactionary political fakir."

He charged that his opponent has "consistantly opposed" measures for veterans' housing and rural electrification, and fought social legislation "like the old age pensions and unemployment laws."

In a letter to the News-Journal, Purdy pointed out that he criticized McGregor's opposition to OPA because, "regardless of what your present feeling may be about OPA, I have yet to find very many patriotic citizens who opposed price control during the war."

Purdy said "I feel that it is important that your readers realize that most of the votes (cast by McGregor) against OPA were during the war period."

Moose Women Run City For a Day

By JOHN MINE

It was "Ladies' day" at City building today and everything from the jail to the court room had that "feminine touch."

The Women of the Moose moved in to learn how the city's business is conducted—and, incidentally, to check up on the men.

In the council chamber, "President" Velma Owens directed the nine women "councilmen" in a session on the proper shade of green for park buildings.

Burly cops and firemen stood back and watched as the 20 women scampered into the hall and fanned out to take over their assigned offices beside the honest-to-goodness officials who were to "show them the ropes."

'Mayor' Takes Over.

"Mayor" Hazel Lewis spent the morning with Mayor Roy W. Vaughn as he opened the mail and received some official visitors. Then she accompanied him as he made routine checks of city building operations.

"Service-Safety Director" Blanche Cantrell was taken in tow by the city's real director, William W. Enlow. They toured

MANHUNT ENDS

100-Man Posse Captures Two AWOL Soldiers.

HAMILTON—(AP)—Two soldiers, charged with auto stealing and sought by a sheriff's posse of more than 100 men, were captured shortly before noon today in a cornfield near Venice, O., in southern Butler county.

Sheriff Charles Walke said the men, whom he identified as Herbert Goodwin, 17, Hamilton, O., and Robert Todd, 19, of Missouri, had been absent without leave from the army at Camp Scott, Ill., since last April.

Walke said the pair would be questioned in connection with the beating and robbery of Edward Burkhardt, 52, a farmer, last Tuesday afternoon.

STAGE TAG DAY

Navy Mothers Sponsor Benefit For Hospitalized Vets.

Hospitalized navy, marine and coast guard veterans will benefit from a tag day drive Saturday sponsored by the Mansfield Navy Mothers' club.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn has proclaimed the day Navy Day," an especially appropriate occasion to honor the veterans of World War II."

The tag day begins Saturday morning under direction of the club's commander, Mrs. Mabel Harrington. Needy families of navy veterans also will be aided by the drive funds.

Accident Victim Occupies Room Reserved In Advance

An odd twist of fate that figured in the automobile crash Sunday in which Harold Donley, 45, former Mansfielder and Westinghouse executive of Northumberland, Pa., and Dr. Paul A. Stoodt, 46, of 544 Bissman court, were injured came to light today.

Following the crash, Donley, who came to Mansfield to have Dr. Stoodt perform an operation, was taken to the same room he had reserved for the operation, R. J. Hancock, 500 West Fourth street. Donley's father-in-law, said today Dr. Stoodt had scheduled the operation for yesterday.

The crash occurred Sunday while Donley and Dr. Stoodt, lifelong friends, were returning from Cleveland where they had attended the Cleveland Browns-Los Angeles Dons football game, Hancock said.

Hospital officials today described Donley's condition as "fair." Dr. Stoodt remained in "good condition."

Donley suffered fractures of both legs and lacerations. Dr. Stoodt fractured his right forearm and several ribs.

Donley was employed by Westinghouse here for a number of years and attended Mansfield schools. He married the former Louise Hancock of this city.

Peron Sees Need Of Foreign Help

BUENOS AIRES— (INS) —President Juan D. Peron declared today that his five-year plan for Argentina's industrialization and social development is predicted on peaceful aims and respect for the individual.

To carry the plan through, Peron told a news conference, Argentina needs the help of foreign capital and will guarantee investments.

RUSH SLOWS

Movement of Meat Animals to Markets Tapers Off.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The big rush of meat animals to markets during the first week of decontroled prices appeared tapering off today but packers were busy catching up with slaughtering operations.

The volume arriving at markets since early last week was far ahead of what the packers could handle, with embargoes ordered in some stock yards. Industry spokesmen said slaughtering operations in many plants had been curtailed because of the lack of sufficient help.

Packers expressed hope pens would be cleaned up this weekend, indicating a steady drop in receipts was expected. However, there was a fairly steady flow of fresh meat to butcher shops, but spokesmen said the supply is not normal, and retail prices in most instances remained far above the abolished ceilings.

U. S. OPPOSES SOVIET STAND ON VETO ISSUE

American Delegation Wants Open Assembly Discussion on Disputed Points.

NEW YORK — (AP) — A clash appeared to be developing today between the United States and Russia over the right of the United Nations general assembly to discuss small nation proposals for ending the big power veto in the security council.

The American delegation, in a meeting today under the leadership of Chief Delegate Warren Austin, decided that it would insist upon the full right of the assembly to discuss this and two other issues listed on a provisional agenda now before the assembly's steering committee.

This means that the United States is preparing to argue for full discussion of a proposal which it intends in the end to be against.

The delegation favors rejecting all efforts to eliminate the great power veto, and in this respect is lined up with Russia. But it intends to try to restrict use of the veto and on that point likely will be in disagreement with Russia.

* * *

Studies Issues.

The steering committee, American informants said, is expected to meet late today or tomorrow to go over the list of 53 main items of assembly business which are supposed to come up once general debate, beginning today, is ended early next week.

In an informal meeting of the steering committee two days ago, Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky indicated—though American informants said he did not make it final—that Russia would oppose assembly discussions of:

1. Australian and Cuban proposals for ending the veto voting system by amending the charter.

2. A South African proposal for annexing the mandate of southwest Africa. (The United States may or may not favor this project, but thinks it should be discussed.)

3. A Canadian plan for limiting

COURT STUDIES FUND TRANSFER

Judge Takes ADC Financing Plan Under Advisement.

Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch today had under advisement a request from the county commissioners to transfer $7,000 from the county public utility excise tax fund to the nearly depleted Aid to Dependent Children fund.

The request was presented to the court yesterday afternoon at a hearing in which the commissioners were represented by Claude F. Ewing, assistant county prosecutor.

Testifying at yesterday's hearing were Norman L. Wolfe, county auditor, and C. L. Shoup, chairman of the board of commissioners.

Wolfe testified that the $7,000 plus an additional $3,200 expected to be received in federal funds probably would carry the ADC until Jan. 1.

Then the fund will be depleted again, he added. The court will have to decide upon the legality of transferring relief money into the ADC fund, which is not usually considered relief.

The financial problems of Richland county's ADC program are not unique. Other counties of the state have found the program has got out of hand" financially.

The Columbus Dispatch reported recently that the 97th general assembly, convening next January, may be asked to approve legislation permitting counties to transfer money from the utility tax fund to the ADC.

The board of tax appeals has already tentatively approved Richland county's transfer, leaving it to Judge Kalbfleisch to decide the issue.

13 U. S. Soldiers Held for Attacks

BERLIN — (UP) — Thirteen American soldiers were under arrest today charged with attacking several German civilians, including one Catholic priest and an elderly man.

An American police official said the attacks were "the actions of young hoodlums who did not fight the war, but are trying to make up for it by taking it out on German civilians now."

MEMO TO U. N. DELEGATES
(On how to stop a war)

MR. STALIN, who frequently alludes to the contradictions in capitalistic states, is not above contradicting the only man he ever called master—Nicolai Lenin. Just how far Stalin deviates from Lenin's principles can be illustrated by this passage from Lenin:

"The proletariat cannot resort to violence, for it must not interfere with the freedom of peoples . . . we say: Russian people, don't dare violate Finland; no nation can be free if it oppresses other nations. . . . But any Russian Socialist who refuses to recognize the freedom of Finland and the Ukraine is bound to degenerate into a chauvinist. And no sophistries, no references to his 'method' will ever justify him." (April 29, 1917).

And on May 2, 1917, Lenin wrote in Pravda on "Finland and Russia": "Agreement is possible only between equals. If the agreement is to be a real agreement, and not a verbal screen for subjugation, both sides must enjoy real equality of status, that is to say BOTH Russia AND FINLAND must have the right NOT to agree. That is as clear as daylight. . . ." (emphasis by Lenin).

And Lenin's contradiction of Stalin on Finland is as nothing compared to Lenin's contradiction of Stalin on Russia's Turkish policy. The Treaty of March 18, 1921, between Russia and Turkey, instanced by Lenin himself, reads as follows: Article V: "In order to guarantee to all peoples the opening as well as the freedom of commerce through the Dardanelles, both contracting parties declare their readiness to assign the final drawing up of an international regulation concerning the Black Sea and the Dardanelles to a special conference of delegates of the littoral states PROVIDED that the decisions made by this commission shall not in any way encroach upon the COMPLETE SOVEREIGNTY OF TURKEY, NOR UPON THE SECURITY OF TURKEY or of its capital, Constantinople."

* * *

THIS SEEMS to us to be a good solution for the present mess. Russia could certainly reaffirm a treaty written by Lenin himself with the clearest of consciences. And, if we really believe in the things we say we do, the Four Freedoms, we would be bound to sign a similar document.

It would be a triumph of history (instead of one of its usual ironies) that the long dead Nicolai Lenin should solve this greatest crisis in world affairs—the war he so clearly foresaw.

Perhaps the example of GENEROSITY set by Lenin is an example for the current Peace Conference. Certainly all of the diplomats could learn a great deal from the principles set forth in the Treaty. The Treaty granted Turkey Ardahan and Kars. . . . Russia relieved Turkey of all former financial obligations, and surrenders were wiped out.

In short, Lenin believed in the 100 per cent recognition of the self-respect of all nations and minorities. . . . In this he thought he was giving away absolutely nothing of his own principles of revolution. . . . Please note that in dealing with Turkey (which Lenin believed that the treaty was then and is now capitalistic) was based on revolutionary and internationalistic policies rather than nationalistic, imperialistic policies. . . . The Treaty clearly states (to the satisfaction of both the capitalistic and Communist systems): "Each power recognized many points of contact between the movement for national liberation of the peoples of the East and the struggle of the working population of Russia for a new social order."

There may be a great deal wrong with this Treaty from a diplomat's standpoint, but from where this reporter sits it has one great merit. It worked! It brought peace between a capitalistic state and a Communist state which bordered each other. . . . That means the least the Treaty is entitled to —is a search to see if it could be made to work again by all people of good will honestly seeking peace. . . . Because it originated in the Kremlin, it should be accepted by the Kremlin. . . . And because it was accepted by the Kremlin first—is no reason for us to turn it down.

Of course, the Treaty sets forth Lenin's policy, not Stalin's. Could it, perchance, be that Uncle Joe relies too much on Preobrazenksi —who wrote the "ABC of Communism" for the consumption of young Russians, This cynical lad gave the Communists a lesson which they have taken, apparently, too much to heart.

The "ABC" teaches: "The Workers State finds lying very necessary and useful in its foreign policy. Therefore, the attitude of the Communist Party to the open recognition of the RIGHT TO LIE is quite different." (from the ordinary).

But if we say that, the Daily Worker calls us Fascist.

It's all as simple—as ABC!

Pegler Fair Enough

NEW YORK—The American protest to the government against the enslavement of American citizens calls attention again to the carelessness of this country in granting the precious gift of citizenship and the American passport to parasites from foreign countries who have no devotion to the United States. This is an old problem to the state department and to consuls in foreign posts.

It is noteworthy that the American protest to the Yugoslav foreign office speaks of persons "having a valid claim under the laws of the United States to be considered American citizens," and to "individuals claiming the nationality" of this friendly power which contributed to Yugoslavia's liberation and economic reconstruction. It does not speak specifically of native Americans.

* * *

LEGALLY, from our point of view, we have a good case but, in the past, when we stood on the same legal ground, other states were, or claimed to be, equally correct, as Tito's government does now. There is much disagreement with our claim that any person who has become a naturalized citizen of the United States ceases to be a subject or citizen of his native country.

Not only the Nazi government of Germany, but other European governments long before Hitler, refused to recognize American naturalization, to the extent that they still regarded their natives as their subjects.

There were authentic cases in which European young men fled briefly to the United States, acquired citizenship and returned home intending to stay there permanently, for no other purpose than to escape their military obligations as peacetime conscripts.

During one period students from Central American republics caused a serious nuisance by improving the time they spent at North American universities to acquire citizenship and all the rights and protection expressed and implied in the possession of their American passports, which they then flaunted as writs of immunity from the laws of their native republics when they had gone back home to foment revolutions.

They protested against impressment and the United States was placed in the position of protecting men who were, in a plain word, draft dodgers or slackers and deserved no consideration at all from this government, but on the contrary, deserved our resentment.

Lippmann Today and Tomorrow

President Truman in his address to the United Nations General Assembly made one remark which very much needed saying as the assembly prepares to discuss the veto: "The exercise of neither veto rights nor majority rights can make peace secure; there is no substitute for agreements that are universally acceptable because they are just to all concerned."

This is the first time, so far as I know, that any American official, who can speak with authority, has recognized that there is a connection between the use of the veto and the use of the vote.

Yet experience since San Francisco has shown that the two devices produce a vicious circle: The veto would not have been used so often if so many questions had not been put to a vote; and so many questions would not have been put to a vote if the threat of a veto had not been so frequent.

The veto has been the special, though not the exclusive, instrument of the Russians because in any international gathering they can almost never command a majority of votes. And the insistence on voting, indeed on public voting, has been our special instrument because we can usually command a majority of votes.

* * *

THE RESULT has shown how right the president is in saying that neither vetoes nor votes can make peace secure. In a world of sovereign states there is no substitute for agreements that are acceptable—no substitute therefore for diplomacy, which is the art of inducing and compelling agreements.

The attempt to operate the Security Council, the Assembly and the peace conference as if they were legislatures has obstructed agreement and aggravated the disputes. For the United Nations are not a world government.

Perhaps they should be. Perhaps eventually they will be. But until they are a world government, important questions cannot be decided by a count of votes. They have to be settled by negotiation, and they are not settled until those governments which have the chief interest in the question are agreed on the settlement.

We are suffering from an optical illusion if we think that international voting is "democratic." It is democratic to give all persons an equal vote. But when you give all governments an equal vote, you get the greatest possible inequality in the representation of people.

The rights of small nations are very precious indeed. But they need not be and should not be invoked so to deny the rights of the peoples of great nations. Yet that is the result when we confuse the equality of states with the equality of men.

* * *

IF AND WHEN mankind is ready for a world government, then questions can be decided by a count of votes. But the votes that are counted will then have to represent in some just proportion the peoples of the world. Until then the use of the vote, and its inevitable corollary the veto, should be regarded not as a normal method of dealing with unsettled questions but as a last resort and as a counsel of desperation signifying that diplomacy has failed.

The only way to prevent the abuse of the veto is to couple it with prevention of the abuse of the vote. This is to the advantage of all, not merely of the Russians. For while Molotov may have been embarrassed in Paris by the majorities against him, he has not had to give in to these majorities.

GIVEN TERMS FOR SETTING BARN BLAZE

Youths 11, 13, 14 to Serve Sentences at Lancaster Industrial School.

ASHLAND—Three boys at the Ashland county children's home yesterday were sentenced to terms in the boys' industrial school at Lancaster for starting the $15,000 blaze which Monday destroyed the barn at the county institution.

The trio, aged 11, 13 and 14, were sentenced by Judge S. G. Boffenmyer when they were taken into probate court. The two older boys were given two years to age for arson, while the 11-year-old, charged with the lesser crime of attempted arson, was sentenced to one to two years.

Caught in a nearby woods Monday from where they were watching the results of their act, the boys admitted setting fire to the barn in retaliation for being punished for rules infractions on Sunday, Fire Chief Paul Soles said. Their act of revenge resulted in a total loss of the barn and its contents.

The case wound up rapidly after the arrival here of Lee Fair, assistant state fire marshal, and Joseph Vinson, of the National Board of Underwriters, attached to the fire marshal's office. They joined with Ashland Police Chief, Deputy Sheriff William Schindler and Prosecutor C. W. Chorpening in the final phases of the investigation.

Fair praised local officials for their quick action in closing the case. He asserted the state is in the midst of an epidemic of fires started by juveniles. "This type of cooperation will help Ohio in preventing loss through unnecessary fires," the assistant fire marshal said.

BUCYRUS MAN GETS NEW TRIAL

Driver Appeals Decision in Traffic Case.

Found guilty of failing to yield the right-of-way, Augustus P. Topper, of Bucyrus, "appealed" the decision in municipal court yesterday and was granted the right to a new hearing.

Topper, 51, who said he was a sales manager, was involved in an accident here with his 1946-model sedan. Topper's car and one owned by John S. Teschler, 196 East Third street, were damaged.

Following a hearing which lasted about a half hour, Judge H. H. Schettler found Topper guilty. Topper insisted, however, that he wasn't guilty and indicated that he didn't realize he was on trial.

The judge then vacated his "guilty" order so Topper can employ counsel and continue the hearing next Wednesday.

Officers said Topper made a left turn at First and Main streets last Friday against on-coming traffic which resulted in the collision.

Fined $25 and costs on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with improper lights was Gus Chokreff, Springmill road.

Robert L. Zoll, 75 Massa avenue, was fined $10 and costs on a speeding charge; Harry L. Board, Akron, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of crossing a yellow line. Fred Myers, of Trailer city, was fined $5 and costs on a charge of operating on a temporary permit unaccompanied by a licensed driver.

PTA Workers, Officers Will Attend School

GALION—Announcement of a school of instruction for PTA officers and workers, to be held some time during the school year, was made at the monthly meeting of the Galion PTA council earlier this week.

Mrs. John Mortland presided for the session as various unit presidents reported on activities. The general membership in PTA in the city as a whole has increased over last year, reports showed.

* * *

In other Galion activities, political candidates were present at the meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night in the IOOF hall to present their views. They were presented by Charles Hinckley.

With Woodrow Crissinger presiding, the Jaycees planned to participate in the Mardi Gras, Oct. 31, which will be sponsored by the Galion Merchants association. A get-out-the-vote campaign also was planned by the group.

* * *

The three Lutheran churches of the city, Peace Lutheran, First Lutheran and Trinity Lutheran, will join for Reformation services at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the Senior high school auditorium. This is the first time such a service has been planned here. The speaker will be Dr. Edward Schramm, editor of the Lutheran Standard, official publication of the American Lutheran church.

DUV Convention At Bucyrus Friday

BUCYRUS—Bucyrus Daughters of Union Veterans will be hostesses to approximately 100 visiting delegates from this district at the 19th annual Fifth district convention Friday. Both morning and afternoon sessions are scheduled at Bucyrus Armory with a noonday meal to be served in First Methodist church.

Mrs. Zelma Kahn, department president; Mrs. Elva Showalter of Richwood, president of District 5, and Mrs. Gail Montgomery, Marion district inspector, will be among the visitors. Mrs. Harry Hart of Bucyrus is the district secretary.

House-Moving Job Nears Completion

BUCYRUS—One of the biggest building-moving contracts undertaken in Bucyrus for many years was expected to be completed soon with the moving of a two-story frame house from the 400 block East Mansfield street, to the Galion road, a distance of approximately a mile.

The building, purchased by Harry Young from the Swan Rubber company at the site of the new addition to the plant, caused considerable difficulty along Walnut street as it was necessary to remove large tree limbs, street lights and power wires as the moving progressed.

SEEK TO RAISE $925

BUCYRUS — Crawford county's rural areas are this week conducting the United Service organizations campaign to raise $925 set as this year's quota. The campaign will close Nov. 15.

Veterans Honored at Service In Iberia Federated Church

IBERIA — Albert N. Cox, Galion attorney, was the speaker at a recognition service honoring 29 ex-service men and women of the Iberia Federated church on Sunday afternoon following a basket dinner in the church vestry.

Cox, who was introduced by Rev. Willis Crafts, expressed the appreciation of the community to the veterans for their many sacrifices and faithfulness to duty. "We must keep continually striving to preserve our individual liberties and give more thought to citizenship so that our government will be what we want it to be."

The names on the church honor roll include George Albright, Eugene Auld, Don Bosh, Lewis Bosh, Fred Braden, Elizabeth Braden, Burr Brady, Howard Crider, John Fisher.

Thad Hobson, Eugene Maidens, Brooks McAnall, Donald McClarren, Robert McClarren, Arthur Meek, Robert Meek, Lowell Meek, Ralph Miller, John Noe.

Harold Noe, Dwight Predmore, Mark Quaintance, Doyle Rusk, Paul Shelton, William Shelton, Virginia Stoneburner, Charles Thomas, Harold Thomas and Thomas Vanatta.

Johnsville Students Elect Officers for School Year

MT. GILEAD—At a recent student election at the Johnsville school, class offices for the year were elected, Paul Furniss, superintendent, announced.

Those who will serve are: Senior Class—Neil Denman, president; Loren Tischer, vice president; Dorothy Hoe, secretary, Donald Nickolas, student council.

The sophomores elected George Smith, president; Marvin Nikolaus, vice president; Doris Walker, secretary, and Pauline Zeger, student council.

RUNAWAYS APPREHENDED

SHELBY — Billie Hawk and Jimmie Bricker, who have been missing from their home since last Saturday afternoon, were returned to their parents. The boys were apprehended early Sunday in Toledo.

Galion Awarded Attendance Prize

TIRO—Meetings of the Brotherhood and Young Peoples organizations of the United Brethren churches of the Shelby district were held Sunday afternoon and evening at the Attica school with the Attica Circuit church as the host church.

Attendance at the joint evening service was 231 with the attendance awards for both brotherhood and young peoples organizations going to the Galion church. All joined in the supper served from 5 to 7 p. m.

Laff-a-Day

BOND ISSUE SUPPORT ASKED

Need For School Program Cited By Citizens.

IBERIA — Asking voters' support of the proposed $25,000 bond issue for the Washington-Bloomfield school building program, a group of interested area citizens this week outlined how the money would be expended.

It was pointed out that the funds would be used to construct a new farm shop building and provide its equipment, make repairs to the present school building and allow extra room for a badly-needed fifth grade teacher.

The resolution for the bond issue was unanimously adopted earlier in the year by the Washington-Bloomfield board of education.

Commenting of the increased student registration, Superintendent Earl E. Bowman said that enrollment in the lower six grades was only 80 in the 1935-36 school year, while today there are 210 pupils in that category.

It was also asserted by spokesmen that the bond issue will allow for more efficient facilities for teaching agriculture, which is the leading vocation of the community. A modern farm shop, tool room, testing room and classroom would be provided.

LAW AMENDED

Ordinance Provides For Seven Patrolmen at Galion.

GALION — Galion will have seven regular patrolmen in addition to Chief James L. Walker and Captain Charles Lauer. An ordinance providing for the seven men on the Galion police force was passed Tuesday night at a special meeting of city council.

The ordinance was intended as an emergency measure to amend an ordinance which was passed at the regular meeting a week ago which provided for six patrolmen besides the chief and captain.

The new ordinance will make possible the appointment of M. G. Thompson as a regular patrolman. The pay schedule allows for $180 per month after a 90-day probationary period at $145 per month.

Bucyrus Students To Hold Election

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus high school students will engage in balloting Thursday for the election of a vice president for the student council who will become president of the council in the 1947-48 school year. Candidates for the post are James Gallant, Paul Truka, Sammy Smith, Wing and Tom Boyle.

Campaign speeches by the candidates will be given in a student assembly today. Each candidate was required to secure 50 signatures for his or her petition before becoming an authorized candidate.

MEMBERS ADMITTED

BUTLER—Fifteen new members were admitted to the Butler Boosters club at the Monday meeting, E. H. Rider announced today. At the meeting plans were made for sponsoring activities such as a trap-shoot, moving pictures and a raffle to raise funds of the organization.

Butler Selects Its Cheerleaders

BUTLER — Assembly was held Monday morning in the school auditorium to select cheerleaders. The results follow:

For the varsity team: Frances Wareham, Harriett Wheatcroft and Joan Beal. For the reserve team: Shirley Loney, Joan King and Sara Rader.

The first basketball game of the season will be played here Nov. 12.

It was decided to print a school paper and Henry Perry was chosen as editor. It will be called the "Butler Booster."

The Golden Rule class of the Evangelical Sunday school will hold a Halloween party Friday, Oct. 25 at the home of their teacher, D. A. Spayde.

Mt. Gilead Indians Go to Marysville

MT. GILEAD—The Mt. Gilead Indians will meet the Marysville Monarchs on the Union county field Friday night is what might prove to be the championship game of the Mid-State league football race. Marysville and Mt. Gilead are both undefeated in the race, though Mt. Gilead has been tied by the Richwood Tigers.

At the present time Marysville is on top of the league standings and Mt. Gilead holds undisputed possession of second place. A win for Mt. Gilead would reverse the standings and Mt. Gilead would then only have to get by Marion St. Mary on November 8 to take the league championship.

Based on seasons records the Monarchs will go into the game a heavy favorite over the lighter Mt. Gilead eleven. Mt. Gilead's 35 piece marching band will accompany the team to Marysville.

Game Shapes Up As Line Battle

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The Cleveland Browns' battle Sunday with the San Francisco Forty-Niners shaped up today as a contest between the forward walls of both clubs.

The Forty-Niners top the All-America football conference with a defensive average yield of 2.02 per rush. In addition, the San Francisco line has been able to shake the flashy backs loose consistently enough to give the Forty-Niners the third highest scoring total in the league.

Two doubtful starters for Cleveland are Marion Motley and Moe Scarry. The big fullback from Canton rested yesterday with a chipped tooth suffered in the Browns-Los Angeles Dons clash last Sunday, and Scarry was out with severely bruised legs and arms.

Tygers Go To Timken Tomorrow

Mansfield Madison's clash with Fredericktown tonight at 8 o'clock on the Rams' gridiron headlines the area football card.

The undefeated, but once tied, Senior high school Tygers travel to Canton tomorrow night to collide with Canton Timken. Senior high has won five decisions while the Trojans have won three and lost three.

Coach Jeff DeHaven's Rams will be making their next to last home appearance of the season tonight. Madison enjoys an open date next week and then meets Millersburg here in the concluding 1946 grid contest.

The Madison mentor announced yesterday that Captain Jack Cleckner will play with a special nose guard. Cleckner suffered a broken nose as Madison defeated Doylestown, 26-6, last week.

Madison will be seeking its fifth victory tonight. The Rams have dropped a pair of encounters.

Fredericktown will field a much heavier squad than the Rams but DeHaven is confident that his sharp-hitting attack can offset the weight advantage. The Rams concluded their week's drill with a session of brushing up on plays last week. DeHaven has concentrated on offensive measures all week.

Postle and Barton spark the Freddies' attack. Fredericktown won over Centerburg, 13-6, last week.

Jack Herr, veteran halfback, leads the Ram scorers with five touchdowns and an extra-point for 31 points. Fullback Dick Ernsberger is second with 29 points four TD's and five extra-points.

* * *

At Stadium field, Coach Paul Snyder continued to work with his new fullbacks—Harry Osbun and Ray Beard—to get them ready for Timken's steadily improving Trojans. Osbun, highly-touted sophomore, and ex-Tackle Beard are expected to alternate at the spot left vacant when Kenny Horvath suffered a broken leg in practice this week.

The 30-man Tyger varsity squad leaves for Canton tomorrow at noon. With the exception of fullback, Snyder will start the same eleven which tied Massillon, 12-12, last week. Bill McKee returned to the squad last night.

Canton lost its opener to undefeated Barberton, 27-0, and then went down before super-tough Canton McKinley, 40-0. The Trojans came back to erase Wellsville, 32-13; Uhrichsville, 30-0, and New Philadelphia, 13-0. Canton Lehman tallied on a 20-yard naked reverse in the last six seconds to break the Timken winning streak, 19-12, last week.

Timken surprised the Bengals, 13-7, in 1945, and the Snydermen are itching for a bit of revenge.

* * *

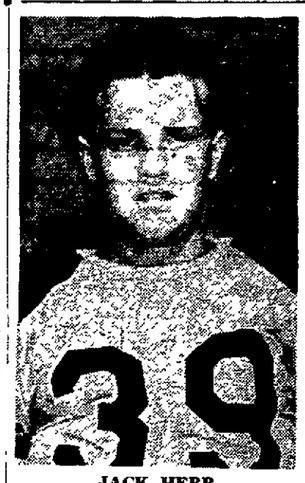
Shelby's Whippets will be after their fifth straight Northern Ohio league victory when they go to Norwalk tonight for the upstate school's annual homecoming. Norwalk is tied with Upper Sandusky for second place in the league with four wins and one defeat apiece.

Shelby rocked Bellevue, 20-6 and Norwalk rolled over Willard 32-13; Upper Sandusky defeated Galion, 19-7, and Crestline surprised Bucyrus, 7-0, in league games last week.

Upper Sandusky, 1945 league champions, entertain fifth-place Bucyrus Willard goes to Crestline, and Bellevue plays at Galion in other league tilts tonight.

* * *

Bellville travels to Ashley tonight. Ashland goes to Marion. Harding Orrville plays at Loudonville, and Lakeside invades New London tonight.



JACK HERR

Ashland won its fifth game in six starts by edging Wooster, 14-7; Bellville trounced Mt. Gilead, 19-0; Loudonville annihilated Rittman, 31-12, and New London entered the victory column for the first time at the expense of Amherst, 40-7, last week.

West Fifth 11 In Grid Lead

West Fifth vaulted into first place in the Northern division of the Mansfield grade school touch football league by upsetting Bowman 6-0 yesterday afternoon.

Bowman had won two straight victories but B. Carbetta intercepted a pass to run 50 yards for the only score of the game in the fourth quarter. It was West Fifth's second win in a row.

In the other Northern section contest, Newman entered the victory column for the first time by swamping Western, 21-0. Lodge scored a pair of touchdowns and Grace took a pass from Jaynes for the other tally.

West Pointers Win 'Em the Hard Way

NEW YORK — (INS) — Army's football team, with an average gain of 462.7 yards per game in last year's easy victories, proved today that this year's Cadet eleven is winning the hard way.

National Collegiate Athletic bureau statistics show unbeaten Army making its first appearance in 1946 offense statistics this week as the 15th team among the nation's top ground gainers.

The Cadets have gained 1,701 yards in five games, an average of 340.2 yards per game.

Appleseed and Simpson Carry Unbeaten Marks Into City Fray

Johnny Appleseed and John Simpson junior high school football teams will both carry unbeaten records into the seven annual city championship game a week from tonight at Stadium field.

Appleseed copped its fourth 1946 victory last night by rolling over the Willard reserves, 33-0, on the Stadium field turf while Simpson was held to a 7-7 deadlock at Galion. Appleseed was tied previously this season by Willard. The Bulldogs copped four 1946 decisions.

The 1946 renewal of the junior high championship game will find both elevens going into the fray with a fine chance of coming out on the long end of the score. Both elevens have shown tremendous offensive power at various stages this season.

With Harry Osbun blasting for two touchdowns, the Pioneers rapped Simpson, 19-0, in the 1945 championship encounter. Simpson has won four games in the series and Appleseed two.

For the first time this season, Appleseed unveiled its passing attack and veteran Howard Tipper completed eight of ten tosses. Three of the passes went for touchdowns, Anderson getting two and Alexander one.

Tipper intercepted a pass for another TD while Tackle Goldsmith recovered a Willard fumble for the other score.

Simpson tallied early in the first quarter against Galion when Don Cline passed 18 yards to Demyon. Charles Jenkins sliced off-tackle for the seventh point.

Seif knotted the score in the third period on a one-yard buck and a plunge for the seventh point. A 45-yard pass from Wisler to Van Tone, sub end, setup the TD play.

Simpson made nine first downs to one for the home team and outgained the young Tigers, 193 to 87 yards.

A 76-yard Jenkins TD dash was called back in the fourth quarter when the Bulldogs were guilty of clipping.

Barons Still Lead

The Cleveland Barons today still led the Western division of the American Hockey league despite their 6 to 4 defeat last night at the hands of the Springfield Indians in the Massachusetts town.

Cross Country Team Chosen

The seven-man team which will represent Mansfield Senior high school in the district cross-country meet at Toledo Saturday morning was chosen in final tryouts yesterday afternoon on the Coolridge golf links home course.

Joe Schoop, Pete Vogt, Jim Schuler, Bob Killer, Rudy Sheets, Harold Leppert and John Poorman make up coach Harry Mehock's 1946 meet team with Gene Carlisle as alternate.

Mansfield has won six straight meets this season and is rated among the favorites for the crown won last year by Toledo Waite. The Tygers placed third. Mehock coached thinclads have won four district titles, the last in 1944.

The Tygers leave for Toledo Saturday morning at 5:30. Competition starts on the Ottawa park golf course at 10 a.m.

Yanks Trade Bonham

NEW YORK — (AP) — The New York Yanks announced today that they had traded Ellie Bonham, veteran right hand pitcher, to the Pittsburgh Pirates for Art Cucurullo, southpaw pitcher who last year won 8 and lost 1 with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast league.

BO-SOX DOMINATE ALL-STAR TEAM

NEW YORK—(AP)—Dominated by the Boston Red Sox with four members, the 1946 major league all-star team chosen for the Associated Press by 122 baseball writers showed a strong American league complexion, with seven representatives to the National league's three.

The St. Louis Cardinals, world series conquerors of the Red Sox, landed all three National league positions.

One player each from Detroit, Cleveland and the New York Yankees completed the roster and gave the American league its huge majority. Of the 10 men selected (two pitchers were named), eight are former servicemen.

No player was a unanimous choice. Ted Williams drew the most support, the Boston Red Sox outfielder being named in 120 of the 122 ballots cast. Bobby Doerr, his teammate, ranked next with 117 votes. Then came Hal Newhouser, Detroit Tiger ace left-hander, with 102, and Stan Musial of the Cardinals, with 96. Musial received 81 votes for first base, the rest for center and right fields.

The selections:

Outfielders — Ted Williams, Red Sox; Dom DiMaggio, Red Sox, and Enos Slaughter, Cardinals.

First base—Stan Musial, Cardinals.

Second base — Bobby Doerr, Red Sox.

Third base—George Kurowski, Cardinals.

Shortstop—Johnny Pesky, Red Sox.

Catcher — Aaron Robinson, Yankees.

Pitchers — Hal Newhouser, Tigers, and Bob Feller, Indians.

The closest race developed for third base when Kurowski nosed out George Kell of the Tigers, 57 to 55.

One of the biggest surprises was the failure of Hank Greenberg, the majors' home run and runs batted in king, to receive a single vote. The Tiger first baseman, off to a slow start this season, finished strong to wrest the slugging leadership from Williams with 44 home runs and 126 runs batted in.

Newhouser and Feller, Mr. Left and Mr. Right, respectively, had little competition among the pitchers. Only three other hurlers, Dave (Boo) Ferriss of the Red Sox, Howie Pollet of the Cardinals and Johnny Sain, 20-game winner of the Boston Braves, received mention. Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, who won three games for the Cards in the recent world series, did not get a vote.

The all-star squad represents a tremendous punch at the plate, led by Musial with .365 and Williams, with .342, the team's composite batting average, not including the pitchers, is .318.

Dick Alexander Notches Seventh Straight, Williams Kayoes Barkley In Armory Ring

Dick Alexander put a potent left jab on display last night in the Armory and the Mansfield welterweight had little trouble notching his seventh straight professional boxing victory.

Johnny Bryant gave Dick a run for his money but the strong Massillon lad could not match Alexander's ring finesse. The Mansfield welter looks better each time out and is ready for a ten-round go in the next local show.

Last night's bout was the first main-event tussle for Alexander and the News-Journal score sheet gave Mansfield each of the eight rounds although three of them were mighty close.

Alexander piled up his biggest margin in the first round and in the seventh when he poked Bryant to the canvas with three consecutive lefts to the "button." The Massillon hopped up immediately but he was obviously in bad shape.

At one time in the fight Alexander landed seven straight lefts to Bryant's face. Bryant, a strong counter-puncher, came into the ring with a knockout reputation and was trying for the kill through the entire fight. He swarmed over Alexander in the sixth but Dick came back to belt him over the ring with a series of rights and lefts.

Three of the first four engagements on the Rex Reese-Sam Miller promoted card ended in knockouts.

In the other half of the main event, Lefty Lou Williams used his size and power to put Wally Barkley away in the second stanza. Barkley, another Massillon fighter, had previously decisioned Williams but the Dayton lad had just too much last night.

Barkley, one of the faster boxers to appear in any Armory pro show, could do little against the stronger Williams. Lefty Lou finished the bout in 45 seconds of the second round with a right to the jaw.

Joe Brown, the Lakeville light-heavy who is fighting out of Mansfield won his second Armory victory by putting Kid Esmont, Canton, among the birdies in 1 minute, 54 seconds of the first round. He caught Esmont in the pit of the stomach with a right hook and the bout was over.

In the four-round prelims, Red Beckholt, Mt. Vernon, got a close nod over Ed Barkley, Canton, and Phil Scott, Marion, won a first round technical knockout decision from Johnny Ross, Massillon.

Judges were Jack Hamilton, Sam Morgan and Dr. B. W. Stern.

Prostate Gland Trouble?
I'm a railroad man and for over 3 years had difficulty working because of backaches due to Prostate Gland trouble. Doctor's formula proved of great benefit and before and since his death have sold them (now called Watt's Suppositories) to railroad men and others the country over. Fine testimonials and repeat business show the good work they do. Backache, getting up nights, often indicate an inflamed Prostate Gland. I guarantee your money back if not given relief. Truck Tires to run 100,000 Miles
With today's increased truck usage, more service is required of heavy duty truck tires. This problem of lower truck operating expenses becomes a serious reponsibility of the tire manufacturer. To meet this need Mansfield's management, engineers, chemists, and tire workers set 100,000 Miles as the goal for truck tire performance.
Four Famous Brands
MANSFIELD CENTURY
RICHLAND UNITED
The manufacturer has done his part in setting this new goal of truck tire performance. Now, to enjoy fullest mileage, truck tire users should avoid overloading—should maintain proper air pressure—should carefully match dual tires—and check for proper application. Only in this cooperative way can best results be obtained.
HOW to reduce expenses of truck operation always has been a serious problem to truck-fleet owners. But, lowering of truck mileage costs becomes more vital as the numbers of trucks in use increase with their heavier loads and greater distances to haul.
In assuming responsibility to build a truly better truck tire, the Mansfield Tire & Rubber Company conceived an idea which involved an entirely new approach to tire making.
This new approach to truck tire manufacture has meant the development of a sturdiness in tire construction and a stamina in tire use such as truck tire users never before have experienced.

Ben Hogan Favored In Richmond Golf

RICHMOND, Va. —(AP)— Methodical Ben Hogan, professional golf's leading money winner of 1946 from Hershey, Pa., tees off with 160 other contestants today in the opening round of the $10,000 Richmond open golf tournament, favored to repeat his victory of 1945 over the tricky Hermitage country club course.

He'll have plenty of competition from a sparkling array of the nation's top pros, including five others in the bracket of the ten leading money winners.

Besides Hogan, leading in total money with $37,877, those in the "top ten" competing here include Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y.; Herman Keiser of Akron, Ohio; Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Va., the British open king and sentimental favorite in the tourney here; Jim Ferrier of Chicago; and Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kan.

Passes Enable Akron Bears To Defeat Scranton, 20-14

SCRANTON, Pa. —(AP)— Akron's American football league team scored two touchdowns on passes from Owen Goodnight to Floyd Wheeler in beating Scranton 20-14 last night in a league game before an estimated 4,000 fans.

Scranton took the lead with a tally in the first period on a 10-yard pass, but was unable to score again until the final quarter.

Phone Error Ends Housing Problem

ANDERSON, Ind. —(U.P.)—Maj. William Johnson's house-hunting search has ended and he can thank a Dallas, Tex., telephone operator.

Johnson answered a long-distance phone call in his office here and was astounded to hear someone give him the description of a house for rent. Before the caller learned he had been given a wrong number, Johnson accepted the offer and rented the furnished, five-room house.

Cities Hike Fees To Meet Expenses

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—To pay for increasing municipal expenses, many cities during the past two months have adopted new measures, according to the International City Managers' association.

Added service charges are the major single source of increased revenues. Among them are garbage collection fees, sewer rental fees, rubbish collection charges and a flat tax on business establishments.

Church Amplifiers Escape Noise Ban

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—After long and sometimes heated debate, Barnet Hodes, city corporation counsel, overruled Fred M. Echoff, chairman of the Chicago Noise Abatement Commission, by deciding that church amplifying systems do not violate city anti-noise ordinances.

Neither do train whistles, automobile horns and streetcar bells, he said.

Methane, the most plentiful of all gases, is generated in marshes, sewers, and the human intestines.

LICENSE ISSUED

MILLERSBURG—A marriage license was issued to James W. Dunken, 24, Fredericksburg, and Anna Mae Weahry, 18, Holmesville R. D., with the consent of Ellsworth and Golda Weahry.

Milk Bottle Pours Out Lamentable Tale

'No Bottlee-No Milkee'—

Fearing Disgrace, Milk Bottle Pours Out Its Lamentable Tale

By AL PREYER

"Imagine me being in the paper," the milk bottle rattled, as he heard the reporter asking all sorts of questions.

"I've heard of milkmen being written about—but us bottles—that's a new one. Boy, what I could tell that guy.

"In the first place," bottle rattled on, "there's too many of us fellows who leave this place and never get back, and with the bottle shortage as critical as it is—brother that's a crime.

"One of us bottles is supposed to make about 30 trips before we retire," bottle explained. "But when we don't we gotta be replaced, and that's where the rub comes in.

"Why do you know, fella, that in some places they've had to paraphrase the chinese laundryman's saying — 'no bottlee — no milkee! That can be tough on the kids.

"What happens that we don't get back? Well, mister, it's like this. When people don't worry too much about their odd pennies they don't seem to worry to much about us.

They forget that it cost the boss about twice the three cents they pay as deposit to replace one of us—if he can replace us.

"We get thrown in a dingy basement where we get durty and lonely for the pretty white milk we could be taking somewhere. Later on, bottle continued, 'smacko' other bottles come hurtling down to see us and we get hurt. You know, fellow, a chip or a crack puts us out of circulation forever. We can be cleaned, but we can't be patched up."

"Well, pretty soon," and here bottle rattled so loud he sounded angry, "so many of us get piled up together that we take up a lot of room. Then what happens? Some guy comes along and dumps us into a truck with a lot of other bottles and junk, and we end up in disgrace — on the city dump. Brother, if you don't believe me go out and take a look."

"Now that's really tough," and you could tell old bottle was really agitated. "I know of places here where they have to try and get 100 gross of bottles a month to replace the 10 per cent of us that get 'busted' up in the mill, and the 90 per cent of us that never show up again once we leave."

"I've been pouring off too much," tingled the bottle, and you could see he was in a better mood. "Just one more thing and I'm through. IF folks would just take one of us back every time he got one of us, how perfect that would be. It's really important, because not only are we fewer in numbers, but we're not so strong as we used to be so that more of us retire sooner."

"It's a tough situation," bottled concluded, "but if you guys print this story, I think the folks will help us out—cause I know they like us! How do I know?? Ask any one who ever played spin the milk bottle!!" clinked the bottle as he fell on his side and spun round and round. Not another word could be gotten out of him. He must have been daydreaming!

Scout Groups Feature PTA October Meet

GALION—An evening devoted to scouting and its different groups featured the October meeting of the West Elementary and Junior high PTA Monday night. Groups represented were the Boy Scouts, Cubs, Girl Scouts and Brownies. Leaders and members of the groups were present and took part on the program.

The meeting was opened with group singing led by the president, Mrs. Philip Neumann. Devotions were conducted by Rev. Herbert S. Garnes, jr. At the close to the program, there was a business session and refreshment hour.

* * *

The theme for discussion and study this season by the Fortnightly club is "The Coming Peace." This subject was introduced at the club's regular meeting, Monday afternoon, by Mrs. F. E. Arndt. A review of the book, "Problems of a Lasting Peace," was given by Mrs. Martin Brown.

* * *

Monday night marked the regular meeting of the Queen Esther class of the Market Street Methodist church. It was held at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Ridenour with Mrs. Jesse Sharrock as hostess. Business was conducted by Mrs. Carl Rettig.

* * *

Mrs. Harriet Logan opened her home Monday evening to members of the Past Councilors, Daughters of America. Business was conducted and social hours were enjoyed.

* * *

Impressions of England were given by R. R. Ehrhart, industrial coordinator, Fenn college, Cleveland, a former Galion teacher, when he spoke before the Galion Rotary club, Monday night.

Ehrhart spent seven months in England. He was one of seven men selected by the U. S. government in July, 1945, to help establish the Warton American Technical school at Warton.

VELVET'S THE FLOUR THAT GIVES ME THE BEST RESULTS

—SAYS MRS. JEANNE M. JAMES

Mrs. Jeanne M. James; 2700 Maplewood Drive, Detroit, Michigan, says, "I guess I've tried them all and I have never found a flour I like so much as Velvet. It's just tops for cakes and pastries." Mrs. James is one of the thousands of enthusiastic women who help give Velvet its leadership.

WHERE VELVET IS BEST KNOWN

Women Buy More VELVET Than Any Other Cake Flour

Actual survey shows Velvet ahead of all other cake flours

Yes — ma'am — it's true. Where Velvet is best known, women actually buy more Velvet than any other cake flour, according to an amazing independent survey.

No wonder women like Velvet. So many of them say they get the best results when they use this wonderful flour. More tender, flakier pastry—fluffier, lighter cakes—that's what every woman wants, and Henkel's Velvet Cake Flour can help you to get them.

Just try this great flour. See if you don't agree with all the other good cooks who say, "Velvet's tops."

VALUABLE PREMIUMS

Every package of Velvet Cake Flour contains valuable coupons that can now be exchanged for a large range of wonderful aluminum ware for your kitchen. Start saving your coupons now.

TRY A VELVET Lazy Daisy Cake

2 cups sifted Velvet cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1¼ cup sugar
3 unbeaten eggs
Milk
½ cup butter or shortening, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift the four dry ingredients together 3 times. Break eggs, add enough milk to them to make 1½ cups and add to flour mixture with the butter and vanilla. Beat hard for 3 minutes. Pour into a waxed paper-lined 9-inch square loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven 350° F. for 35 minutes until cake tests done. Remove from oven and spread on the following icing:

¾ cup melted butter
3 tablespoons cream
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup cocoanut

Combine butter, cream and brown sugar and blend. Spread on hot cake. Sprinkle with cocoanut and place in hot broiler for a few seconds until cocoanut is lightly browned.

ADAMIC BOOK HEADS LIST OF NON-FICTION

'Dinner at White House' Tells of Roosevelt-Churchill Conferences.

"Dinner at the White House," by Louis Adamic, one of the most widely discussed books dealing with war-time relationship between President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill, heads the list of non-fiction to be released Monday by the Mansfield Public library.

Topping the fiction list is "Loom of the Land," by Eleanor R. Mayo. The novel deals with a family which strives to throw off the yoke of a ruthless, domineering father.

* * *

ACRES OF ANTAEUS is the story of Midwest Farms, a giant corporation which went through the middle-west knocking down fences between farms and chaining them together for mass production. Jim Buckley, a supervisor for the corporation, is enthusiastic about new efficiency and modern methods, but his wife Emily fears and hates this corporation that has gobbled up the land.

LOOM OF THE LAND, by Eleanor R. Mayo, is a family story which centers around Russ Walls, a dominating and ruthless father. The three eldest children, each in his own way, struggle to throw off the father's yoke; Gene in his marriage, Mary with her painting, and Jake with the knowledge that the farm will be his when his father dies. Conflicting currents of tragedy and power through the book—the portrait of a strong man, loved by his wife, hated by his children, feared and respected by his neighbors.

CROSS ON THE MOON, by John Hewlett, is a story of hypocrisy, bigotry, and intolerance in a small Georgia town. Johnny Beane's life seemed destined from the beginning to be thwarted by an environment from which there was no escape; but it was not all tragedy because Johnny had two friends to whom he took his joys and his sorrows:

Other fiction:

INVISIBLE SUN, Lee; LIFE SENTENCE, Bailey; ORIGINAL CARCASE, Bagby; MR. ADAM, Frank.

* * *

WHERE ARE WE HEADING, by Sumner Welles is the former under-secretary's answer to numerous questions on the international situation. In it, he discusses such questions as. Can the United Nations save the world from war? Where and what are the major clashes between the great powers and how can they be adjusted? What has caused a dangerous deterioration of our relations with the USSR and Latin American countries? Wherein has our foreign policy failed and what must we do to recover leadership?

DINNER AT THE WHITE HOUSE, by Louis Adamic, is an account of a dinner to which President Roosevelt invited the Adamics to meet Winston Churchill. The invitation came as a result of Mrs. Roosevelt's in Adamic's book Two Way Passage. Inspired by this intimate glimpse of the two war leaders, the author has written a book which touches on important issues, the relationship between the prime minister and the president and its possible effect on the post-war world.

BUILD A HOME, by Paul Carey, is one man's answer to the housing shortage. In this book he describes how he and his wife built their own home on their acre in the country without benefit of architect or builder. His program is for only the most hardy and enthusiastic.

Other non-fiction includes:

WRITERS WRITING, van Gelder, MINERALS, METALS, AND GEMS. Verrill; 13 FAMOUS PLAYS OF CRIME AND DETECTION. Cartmell; OLD FAVORITE SONGS AND HYMNS. MacKenzie; COMPLETE GIN RUMMY, Richard; DICTIONARY OF DIFFICULT WORDS. Jarrold; ELEMENTARY MECHANICS OF FLUIDS, Rouse; COLOR AND CONSCIENCE, Gallagher; ARSENAL OF DEMOCRACY, Nelson.

Set Up Army Committee

Plans are underway to form an Army Advisory committee composed of representative citizens of Mansfield. M/Sgt. Daniel DeSalvo of the Mansfield army recruiting office said today.

DeSalvo said that he had talked with Mayor Roy W. Vaughn about the committee and presented a tentative list of names of persons who would be asked to serve.

The purpose of the committee, DeSalvo explained, "will be to act as liaison between the community and the war department on public relations matters." For example, the committee would advise the war department of the community's attitude toward such matters as the draft, the proposed universal military training plan and other war department policies.

Another meeting is to be called soon to form a permanent committee, DeSalvo said.

HOMES FACING FUEL FAMINE IF MINERS STRIKE

Mansfield Dealers Report Their Coal Stocks Running Low.

said, was to attempt to fill old customers' orders.

Kallmerten and Baer said they were "clamoring for coal," but were unable to keep up with orders. An employe said some old customers ordered coal during the summer, "but there's always some people who won't order until it gets cold."

"At present, there's not a carload in the place," he said. "We've reached the point where we won't accept new customers."

Richard Hecht, manager of the Hecht Coal company, reported coal was "pretty short." He said producers' deliveries were 30 per cent under the prewar figure, and recently coal "was sold before it hit Mansfield."

Ohio coal, a comparatively low-grade fuel, is the only coal being received at the Builders Supply company, A. G. Hart, manager, said.

* * *

3-Ton Limit Set.

The company at present is limiting customers to one truck load —three tons—and orders are being received faster than they can be filled, he said.

"It doesn't look so good," Hart commented. "If we can't fill our customers' orders now, what will happen when John L. Lewis walks out?"

Other local coal dealers made similar replies. All pointed out that the shortage would strike simultaneously in nearly every city in the country if a coal strike develops.

STEEL SHORT

Auto Firm Orders Day Layoff For 80,000 Workers.

DETROIT—(INS)—Virtually all Ford Motor company auto and truck assembly operations will be halted at midnight tonight for a one-day shutdown because of the critical steel shortage.

M. L. Bricker vice-president in charge of manufacturing; announced the shutdown will affect 80 thousand workers and result in a wage loss of about 880 thousand dollars.

Bricker attributed the steel shortage to the recent 10-day strike of crane operators at the River Rouge plant which he claims cost the company enough steel to build about 14 thousand automobiles.

Mrs. Kendall Services at 2 P. M. Today

MILLERSBURG—Funeral services for Mrs Roscoe Kendall, 62, native of Mechanic township, Holmes county, who died at 3 a. m. Monday at her home, nine miles north of Ashland, were to be held at the Hunter funeral home at 2 p. m. today.

Brief services will be held previously at the residence at 10 a. m. Rev. Harold Scott of Clear Water Church of Christ will be in charge of both services. Burial will be made in the Millersburg cemetery.

Mrs. Kendall was the former Wilda Schlegal, a daughter of August and Katie Schlegel. Survivors are the husband, one son, George, of Cleveland; two sisters, Mrs. Forest Beachy, Canton, and Mrs. Nelson Beans, Loudonville; one brother, Bert Schlegel, Holmesville, and one grandchild.

* * *

LESTER STRAUCH

CRESTLINE—Funeral services for Lester Strauch, 32, of County Line road, who died yesterday at the Crawford County hospital at 7 p. m. after a six-year illness will be held Friday at the Garverick funeral home Friday at 10 a. m.

Born in Sandusky township the son of William and Mary Byer Strauch, he is survived by his mother; a brother, Roger, at home, and a sister, Gertrude, of Galion.

Mr. Strauch was a member of the Calvary Reformed church. The pastor, Rev. W. L. Margard, will officiate at services and burial will be made at the Greenlawn cemetery.

* * *

HARRY H. SWAIN

BUCYRUS — Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 1:30 p. m. in the Wise funeral home for Harry H. Swain, 65, Bucyrus dry cleaner for 30 years, who died at his apartment 153½ Washington square Wednesday. Burial will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

Born in Towanda, Pa. November 14, 1880, Mr. Swain came to Bucyrus 30 years ago. Since his forced retirement due to ill health five years ago, his business has been directed by his wife who survives with two daughters of a former marriage, Mrs. Herbert Blackman, of Sayre, Pa. and Mrs. Edward Byron, of Binghamton, N. Y., six grandchildren, and two step daughters.

DAVID K. EMMINGER

ASHLAND — Services will be held Friday at 10:30 a. m. at the Denbow-Bear Funeral home for David Keith Emminger, five, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Emminger, 209 East Washington street, who died Tuesday in Babies and Children's hospital, Cleveland, where he had been a patient for six weeks. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

The child was born in Ashland and leaves his parents, a brother, Richard Allen, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs C. C. Emminger, and Weldon Creveling, all of Ashland.

HARRY R. WINNER

BUCYRUS—Rites were to be held this afternoon in the Munz Funeral home for Harry R. Winner, 74, Spanish-American war veteran, who died in the Strohm Rest home Tuesday following a year's illness. Interment was to be in Oakwood cemetery.

There are no known survivors. His wife, Daisy Peterson Winner, died in 1940.

Mr. Winner lived in Bucyrus during his entire lifetime.

JIMMY KIRK

GALION—Dr. C. S. Kirk, of Galion, received word this week of the tragic death of a grand nephew, Jimmy Kirk, three and one-half years old.

Jimmy was attempting to rescue a kitten which had fallen into West reservoir near the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Winston Kirk, 3861 Bay 8th drive, Portage Lakes, when he fell into the reservoir and was drowned in shallow water a few feet offshore. The body was recovered by a neighbor.

Funeral services are pending the arrival of the boy's grandfather, Dr. Jay Kirk, of Kenmore, who is on a hunting and fishing trip in the Canadian back country.

assembly debate to ten minutes per speaker and otherwise speeding up procedure. (The United States is reported opposed to the plan, but feels it should be permitted to come up in the meeting.)

Mr. Truman disclosed the main lines of America policy on the veto issue in his speech. In it he also pledged that the United States "to the full limit of its strength" would continue to work for a "just and lasting peace" and urged that the United Nations get on with the tasks of controlling atomic energy, suppressing mass destruction weapons and otherwise creating the conditions of peace.

The veto issue appeared certain to kick up a prolonged argument in the assembly's general debate, beginning today after U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie reports to the 51-nation body on the progress of the peace organization to date.

ARMY SERVICE HELPS REDEEM MANY CONVICTS

Report Shows Parolees Made Good Records Working For Uncle Sam.

ALBANY, N. Y.—(U.P.)—A large number of ex-parolees in New York State are no wliving as respected members of their communities as a result of war service with the armed forces.

Commissioner Frederick A. Moran, chairman of the State Parole Board, reports that of all the parolees who served with the armed forces, an "amazingly low number" had bad records in service.

"The parolees almost to a man," Moran reported, "found a new life in the army and took advantage of it to restore themselves to a respected position in their communities."

One parolee, a medical aid man, was wounded three times and was awarded the Purple Heart with two oak leaf clusters, a Presidential Unit citation and a French decoration for bravery in evacuating wounded comrades during a fierce engagement in Germany.

Several received spot battlefield commissions and one was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for "utter disregard for personal safety" in assisting wounded to reach our lines.

One parolee, Moran reported, volunteered to lead a Filipino party bringing food and water to a lost American company. The group was ambushed and two men were killed and three others wounded. It required two days for the detail to deliver the supplies and when they returned they brought their wounded with them.

Whenever possible the Parole Board has released men from parole after they were honorably discharged from the armed services and has assisted them in their search for a new start in civilian life, Moran said.

He enjoys recalling the act of a parolee who learned in prison that orders are orders. While on sentry duty, the parolee under orders not to allow anyone to enter a certain plane, refused entrance to an officer—who turned out to be the senior pilot. The sentry was commended for his attention to duty.

Sloth Makes Long Trip Upside Down

MIAMI — (UP) — The first passenger to travel from British Guiana upside-down arrived here safely in a specially constructed box. The passenger was a three-toed sloth. Pan-American World Airways got the rare animal from the jungle for the Alton Freedman rare bird farm in Kendall, Fla.

The sloth can't walk because its limbs are uneven in length and its toes are too sharply pointed. It leads a lazy, solitary life high up in the trees.

TRACK HISTORY

LONDON—(INS)—The standard gauge of railway tracks of four feet eight and a half inches which is common to British and American railways is an inheritance from the ruttings in old Roman roads which were copied centuries ago by British cart tracks. In turn they were adopted by the railways, says British Railways.

$10 FINE PAID

BUCYRUS—Newton Couts, 76, Bucyrus, paid a $10 fine and costs in police court Tuesday on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants. Couts was arrested Monday night after his car struck a parked car belonging to Ralph G. Pfahler, East Rensselaer street.

New Electric 'Motor' Catapults Planes From Smallest Airfields

Officials of Mansfield's new municipal airport will never have to worry about plane manufacturer's making them too big—not with the announcement recently of a new type of catapult for launching airplanes from shipboard or small landing fields, Westinghouse Electric corporation engineers, who developed and built the new "electropult" for the navy, said recently.

An electric "motor" more than a quarter of a mile long and mighty as three of the most powerful passenger locomotives is the latest scientific answer to the problem of launching jet-propelled and robot planes, and heavy bombers from a small area without the initial slamming shock of conventional catapults.

In operation, a plane is hitched to a small car which, at the launching signal, speeds down a "roadbed" and catapults the plane into the air. In recent demonstrations, the Electropult launched a jet-propelled fighter at 116 miles an hour in four and one-tenth seconds after a run of only 340 feet, officials asserted.

Without assistance the plane would have required a run of about 2,000 feet to take off. Running free, without a load, the car has built up a speed of 226 miles an hour in slightly less than 500 feet, officials disclosed.

Looking to the future, M. F. Jones, of the Westinghouse Transportation Engineering department, who, as project engineer, was in charge of the equipment's development, said designs have already been completed for an electropult capable of launching the largest existing airliners at 120 miles an hour with a take-off run of 500 feet.

Jones listed these other possibilities for the electric catapult:

. Floating airports, or seadromes, for refueling in midocean. Equipped with catapults these may take somewhat the form of aircraft carriers.

2. Barge type airports at the water front of cities having suitable water areas near the business district.

3. Mid-city airports. Slum elimination projects may be combined with the airport development. The "flight-deck" could be elevated several stories and the space below used for all purposes except take-off and landing operations.

4. Reviving outgrown airports. The trend to larger and faster aircraft requiring longer and longer runways may lead to many situations where it is impractical to extend the runways.

Looking somewhat like a miniature trolley system, the Electropult is essentially a big electric motor—called a linear motor because it delivers power in a straight line instead of with the rotating pattern of the usual motor. What would normally be the rotor, or rotating part, is, in the linear motor, the stationary part, laid out flat along the ground to form a 1382-foot-long "roadbed" or track for a small shuttle car.

In the car are installed the coils and steel cores normally found in the starter, or stationary part of a motor. If fashioned into the usual circular form this motor would be 440 feet in diameter, making it easily the largest electric motor in the world, Jones concluded.

Singer Makes Up With Wife

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Bow-tied Frankie Sinatra returned to his wife Nancy today after a public reconciliation that paled anything the swoonmaster ever sang about Friends separately persuaded Sinatra and his wife to appear at the opening of comedian Phil Silvers' show at Slapsie Maxie's.

Toward the end of the show Sinatra stepped to the microphone and launched into a sentimental ballad called "Going Home."

Twice his voice quavered and he choked. As Sinatra reached the last note a deafening din broke out among the patrons. Somberly, he started back to his table.

Then Silvers took him by the arm and led him to another table.

For a long interval Sinatra stared at the girl sitting there, her eyes flooded with tears. Then the swoonmaster sat down, clasped her in his arms and kissed her tenderly.

The crowd roared its approval. Then the Sinatras went home. Sinatra moved out on his wife Oct. 7 after nine years of what long had been ballyhooed as the happiest marriage in Hollywood.

George Evans, Sinatra's press agent, advanced the explanation it was "just a family squabble—the case of a Hollywood career plus a man-and-wife fight."

Men's Suit Shortage Seen As Lasting Another Year

Mansfield's GIs who came marching home from war a year ago are still fighting hard to trade olive drab for pinstripe and it looks as if the "civvies" battle is going to last another year.

That's the opinion of major Mansfield men's clothiers. They report that an improved supply has been far out-matched by overwhelming demand.

"We're turning out as many suits now as we did in any week before the war," said one clothier, "but we just can't keep up with the demand."

Ex-GIs want two and three suits at a time, plus a topcoat or overcoat. And they work hard to get them. That's what's putting the terrific drain on the supply, suit sellers report.

* * *

Sees 2-Year Shortage.

In addition, during the war, shortage-conscious men bought more suits than they actually needed and clothing production was cut down because of the need for military uniforms.

This, plus the fact that we're in the "peak clothes-buying season," makes finding a suit in Mansfield today about as hard as up-rooting a vacant apartment.

One dealer estimates that it'll take "from one to two years" for the supply to meet the demand. He says that his suit supply is about half of normal but demand is threefold.

Darker than the general supply situation is that of suits with two pairs of pants and double-breasted suits with vests. Government regulations still make 'em "verboten."

Father Ordered to Post $500 Bond

John Fenton of Akron was ordered committed to the county jail yesterday until he posts a $500 guarantee payment bond following his hearing in juvenile court on charges of non-support of three children.

In another non-support case, Judge Stuart H. Cramer sentenced Glenn S. Gallagher of Sandusky to 60 days in the county jail and suspended the sentence on the condition that he pay $4 per week for the support of one child.

Missionary Flies In Canada Wilds

SOUDERTON, Pa.—(U.P.)—Soon Linford D. Hackman will take off for another aerial missionary tour in Canada, equipped to operate in any kind of weather.

Hackman, whose activities are directed by the missions board of the Mennonite church for the Alberta-Saskatchewan conference, had his Piper Cub plane fitted with pontoons and skis and will leave shortly to map air routes through the Canadian wilderness for himself and other Mennonite air missionaries. Before he went into missionary work he flew a U. S. mail plane on northern Minnesota routes.

ABSENT MINDED

LONDON —(INS)— Businessmen and diplomats who travel by air across the world are apparently no less absent-minded than the proverbial professor judging by the record volume of business done each year by the Lost Property Office of the British Overseas Airways corporation, which operates air services between the North American continent and England, the Middle East, Africa, India, Australia and the Far East.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1946

This is the pleasant—but short—season between lawn-mowing and snow-shoveling.

Optimistic housewives are already starting to think of ways to spend their leisure time when they no longer have to stand in line half a day to buy things.

It is encouraging to note the frequency with which the words, "untruth", "falsehood" and "misrepresentation", are being used in this campaign instead of what has become known as "the shorter and uglier word."

Those Who Cannot Afford To Buy Meat

DEMAND in excess of supply is the only thing that can give appearance of justification to present high prices of meat, butter, cheese, milk and many other commodities which have long been regarded as essential to comfortable living and maintenance of health.

Undoubtedly there is some taint of conscienceless profiteering associated with the price-boosting that has been going on, but at the retail level it appears that there are few instances of more than a reasonable profit being charged, based on costs in the higher brackets of production and distribution.

Public response, it appears, to recognizedly exorbitant prices, has been a reduction in buying—and this has been particularly noticeable in the matter of meat purchases since return of meat to the markets after removal of price controls.

In many cases this may reflect public co-operation in an effort to restore a balance between supply and demand, but in some instances it probably results from actual inability to pay the high prices now being asked for various kinds of meat.

Such a situation must be regarded as temporary, else America's much touted "high standard of living" will be seriously endangered in a very short time. The price of milk has also reached a point at which reduction in use will be necessary in many low income families in which considerable milk is vitally important to the health of children.

Upsurge of wages and prices—with the end not yet in sight—dare be no more than temporary, unless an entirely new basis of calculation for all incomes is to be formulated and adopted. This applies particularly to employes whose income is not subject to increase through organized pressure, but it also reaches to everyone who does some form of necessary work as well as to those who depend on dividends, pensions or some other form of fixed income.

Any of these who are required to make purchases at a cost of from two to three times what had been contemplated on the basis of income will soon be actual sufferers from the stage of inflation already reached.

While there is talk of more strikes for higher wages—and resultant higher prices—some thought should be given to the millions who are already being penalized by price-jumps that have placed many commodities out of their financial reach.

Obstacle To Community Fund Wind-Up

MANSFIELD'S Community Fund has failed to go over the top in the time originally allotted to the campaign. That time expired at 9 p. m. yesterday. It is now necessary to extend the drive until the end of the month.

In the extra week, one of the city's largest industrial concerns is expected to report a full quota of subscriptions. But this still would not bring the drive to its total of $94,067.

Principal reason for the failure to date is that another and even larger manufacturing concern is hamstrung in its efforts to meet its quota because union leadership in the plant will not permit solicitation of hourly paid workers on the job. The union cites a clause in its contract which makes its position sound—legally.

What its position will be in the homes where there is poverty and illness is another matter. How today's children will feel when they grow up and learn that this CIO union hid behind a legality to refuse help to youth organizations of the city is also something else again.

Individual workers in this one plant, of course, will make some contributions, but without systematic solicitation they cannot be expected to meet their quota. However, their charity and public spirit will find a way to express itself, at least in part.

To make up the loss, which will be substantial, it will be necessary for workers in all other plants, and citizens in all walks of life to give generously during extension of the drive.

The Community Fund and Mansfield must go ahead. No single element can be permitted to impede their progress—in the field of human welfare, above all else.

Some Cities Keep Streets Clean

THERE'S an advantage in getting away from home occasionally and taking a look at some other cities. In the main this results in retaining a favorable opinion of Mansfield, in comparison with other cities of similar size and make-up. But occasionally an observer is impressed with something that is being done in a better way somewhere else and has an idea that improvement could be made here.

As, for instance, an excerpt from a letter just received from Edward W. Dann, president of the Richland County Mutual Insurance company, who is spending some time in Duneden, Fla.

He says: "One thing I observe in these Florida cities is the cleanliness of the streets, with no discarded paper or litter. Perhaps we should provide containers of some kind, and insist no papers be thrown on the sidewalks. The schools could do a lot in such a campaign for the school children are arch offenders, unwrapping things and throwing wrapper, sack or box on the sidewalk."

It happens that this is a lively subject for discussion in Mansfield just now and even a casual observer will notice that Mansfield is unlikely to gain favorable comment from a visitor in the matter of cleanliness of streets.

City officials, the Chamber of Commerce, the Retail Merchants association, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts—and all the other civic, fraternal and social groups—should be able to figure out some way of changing the comment from: "What messy looking streets!" to: "Have you noticed how clean Mansfield streets are kept?"

Now that "Lena, the Hyena" has been revealed, one can't help thinking that Little Orphan Annie is moving toward another exciting adventure—but if Walter Winchell knows he ain't telling.

The Honolulu Star-Bulletin, which diffidently admits being "Hawaii's Greatest Newspaper," presents the following as the cry of husbands who pay for permanents: "Long live the kink!"

Britain's Top Intelligence Man Is Sent Here To Plug Atomic Leaks

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Reports that a small number of atomic bombs had been sent to Northern England for stockpiling brought a flood of diplomatic denials from high U. S. sources. It is significant, however, that the British said little. Instead, they sent a very interesting figure to the United States.

He is Brigadier Menzie, top intelligence man of all England. Menzie is head of M5 (British Military Intelligence), M6 (British Military-Political Intelligence) and M12 (British-Russian Intelligence). Reason for his hurried trip to the United States was to plug leaks.

Since England was a partner in producing the A-bomb, and since Canada, the third partner, supplied the uranium, it would seem that they were entitled to a share in the final result.

Nevertheless, the decision to send a small quantity of A-bombs to England was so closely guarded that it was known only to about six top men in the USA.

In that connection it is significant that very few civilians, even in the cabinet, know much of the whereabouts or numbers of the A-bomb. This was illustrated during a cabinet session shortly before Harold Ickes retired as secretary of the interior.

Ickes, who has a habit of speaking his own mind, said he understood that no civilian in the United States knew where the A-bombs were kept. All the bombs, he said, were in the hands of the military, a situation which he described as dangerous in that it might set the stage whereby a group of brass hats could take over the country merely by issuing an ultimatum.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal took exception to this, whereupon Ickes asked:

"Do you know where the A-bombs are kept?"

Forrestal admitted that he didn't.

"Do you know where the A-bombs are kept?" continued Ickes, turning to Secretary Patterson, the head of the army.

Patterson replied that he did not know.

Ickes then asked President Truman if he knew where the atomic bombs were located. Again the answer was in the negative.

Note—In the opinion of this columnist, few military men have civilian welfare more at heart than General Eisenhower and Admiral Nimitz, present leaders of the army and navy forces. Not all the army-navy brass share their views, however, and a civilian board will soon take over complete control of the atom.

Reserve Board Dissension.

Commodore Jake Vardaman, one of the original Missouri gang whom Truman rewarded with a cushy 14-year job on the Federal Reserve Board, is now fulfilling some of the dire prophesies which his critics made about him. He has been sounding off against the anti-Wall Street-speculation policies of his chief, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Marriner Eccles. Result has been dissension on a board which has the delicate job of guiding U. S. fiscal policy.

Vardaman, son of the late Senator Vardaman of Mississippi, moved to Missouri where he was none too successful in business and later affixed himself to the Truman entourage as naval attache. In Washington he distinguished himself by drafting several enlisted men to paint and repair his house on government time.

Later, when Truman appointed him to the Federal Reserve Board, Vardaman's navy record mysteriously disappeared from the files and was not available to senatorial inquiries during debate on his confirmation.

Now that he has been confirmed by the senate, Vardaman has been making speeches criticizing the no-speculation policy of his chief. Eccles has forbidden stock market investors to buy on margins. They have to buy stocks outright. Many economists pay tribute to this policy, say it was why the investing public took the recent stock market slump without a financial debacle.

Vardaman, however, has been sounding off not only against this no-margin policy but also against the Federal Reserve Board's restrictions on installment buying. He seems to want to go back to the wildcat days of Herbert Hoover.

How long Chairman Eccles will take this from the Mississippi gentleman from Missouri remains to be seen. Son of a wealthy Mormon pioneer who had as many wives as he had bands, Eccles is a former Utah businessman and is considered one of the soundest economists of the New Deal. If he gets sore and steps off the Reserve Board it will be a serious blow to Truman.

Wets Submerge Drys.

A knockdown-dragout fight is shaping up between the wets and drys on the question of local option.

First round was fought recently in Wichita county, Texas, which voted to return to the wet column in a local-option referendum. The same county voted dry in 1942.

However, with a committee of war veterans spearheading their campaign, the wets won by a majority of 1,359 out of a total vote of 16,000. It is significant that more votes were cast in this referendum than in any other political election in the county's history.

Wets are now hailing this as a great victory, for Wichita Falls, county seat of Wichita, Texas, was the largest city in the nation to go dry since repeal.

Next big head-on clash between the wets and drys will be in Chicago, where more than 60 precincts will vote on liquor local option Nov. 5.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Oct. 24, 1926.

It was announced that an enrollment of 1,000 had been reached in the Y. M. C. A. membership campaign.

Mansfield General hospital was accorded full approval by American College of Surgeons.

Catholic Order of Foresters observed annual field day and Stephan Schemine was installed as chief ranger.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Fritz, Marion avenue, were in Akron attending family reunion.

Jerry Rusk, 179 East Second street, reported his garage had been burglarized and auto tire stolen.

Gilda Gray in "Aloma of the South Seas" was screen attraction at the Majestic.

Arthur Smith, student at OSU, was home to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Smith, 19 Baldwin avenue.

Dave Boone Says:

SAN FRANCISCO has offered three sites to the UN for a home, and in the true California tradition they're bigger and juicier.

* * *

Not one is less than ten miles square. The climate ripens a peace earlier, the soil is so rich it grows four crops of unity a year and on a clear day Molotov can see the outlines of democracy.

* * *

Florida received the news with alarm and I look for Miami and Miami Beach to come through with an offer any hour.

* * *

It will contend that the gulf stream can exert a warming influence over all UN debates and wither any veto.

* * *

Only one thing is delaying the Miami bid. It can't agree how to tie up a world peace organization with the pari-mutuels, roulette, craps, and the dog-race gymkhanas.

Treating a Common Parasite—Head Lice.

INFESTATION with head lice is particularly common among children, who pick up these parasites accidentally during contact with chance playmates or at school. There is no disgrace in this—the disgrace consists in allowing the condition to persist. Hence, no parent whose child has acquired head lice should hesitate because of shame, about going to the doctor for aid. The more quickly the doctor's advice is sought, the more sure results will be.

Head lice are tiny parasites which cling to the hair and, thus hidden, are not always visible to the eye. They lay eggs called nits and these become firmly fastened to the hairs so that while it is often easy enough to get rid of the lice, the nits cannot be dealt with until after they hatch into a new crop of parasites.

Methods of Treatment.

Numerous methods of treating head lice have been developed. The treatment used for a long time consisted in using kerosene, which was left on for about 24 hours followed by shampoo and fine combing the hair to get rid of as many nits as possible.

Of late DDT has been employed. Usually a special DDT powder is rubbed into the hair and left on for several days in order that when the nits hatch the new parasites will also be destroyed.

Another form of treatment which has been found excellent is the use of an emulsion of benzyl benzoate. In carrying out this treatment the hair is carefully shampooed to get rid of all oil and dirt.

After the hair is dry, with the child sitting in a chair with his head tilted backward, the neck and shoulders covered with a towel, and the eyes covered with pieces of cotton, the solution is applied to the hair and scalp with a large piece of cotton which has been dipped into it.

After application the hair is combed in the usual fashion. Twenty-four hours later the hair is again carefully shampooed and after being allowed to dry is fine-combed and brushed thoroughly.

It would appear that this treatment is simple to carry out and is safe. It rarely causes any except minor reactions such as some slight irritation of the scalp.

If the child is infested with head lice, the physician should be consulted as to which of these various forms of treatment may best be employed.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

The settlement of Germantown, Pennsylvania, was begun on October 24, 1683, with twenty families banded together under the leadership of Francis D. Pastorius.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

Lobbyists Continue To Be Anonymous.

WASHINGTON—This is a flat admission of failure.

After weeks of working, this correspondent finds himself unable to answer—without fear of libel—the question asked repeatedly by thousands of people across the country during a several-month tour of almost every state in the nation.

The question was:

"Who are the lobbyists in Washington?"

Often it was augmented by associated queries—what are the lobbyists names, who do they represent, how much are they paid, how do they work and do they exert an influence out of proportion to the number of taxpayers they represent?

At the same time, it seemed simple to promise a prompt probe into that situation upon returning to Washington, as well as to pledge a rapid report on what was discovered.

It should have been simple. Just before it adjourned, congress passed the La Follette-Monroney bill, which subsequently became law, requiring Capitol Hill lobbyists to register their names, salaries and sources of financial support.

Deadline for that registration was Oct. 10. After that, any person or organization in the capital which took pay for regularly attempting to influence congress would be out-and-out law-breakers if they were not so registered.

They have not done so.

The most conservative estimate in town—by the lobbyists themselves—lists at least 2,500 such groups and individuals within Washington throughout the normal year.

Nevertheless, with the deadline for registration now clearly two weeks past, only 55 have registered.

The remainder, operating on the old rabbit-stew menu rule, are standing pat, saying: "First you gotta catch us, and prove we are lobbyists."

It's a ticklish proposition. Many of those not registered are this correspondent's acquaintances of long-standing. They admit, in private, that they are lobbyists. Yet they would deny it in public because they have their orders not to expose themselves.

The fact that they're committing a felony apparently does not impress them. But since I can't prove that they're lobbyists, and since I would be accusing them of thus brazenly breaking the law, without having such proof, I can't name them.

Otherwise I would be breaking the libel laws.

Why do they operate in that fashion?

According to those who will discuss it anonymously, there are two major reasons.

First, they think the law is unfair, unclear and unenforceable.

Secondly, officially admitting their role would hamstring their operations.

Whether the law is unfair depends on your point of view. But otherwise, their first point seems well taken.

Although this is early to be drawing conclusions, enforcement agency spokesmen have told this correspondent they hardly know how to go about getting the lobbyists' signatures on the dotted line.

Understand, I'm not commenting on the ethics of such casual and widespread flouting of a law. I'm merely apologizing for being legally unable to answer the question of thousands of citizens who have a perfect right to know who is influencing congress!

One Man's Opinion

THE United States is paying 49.9 per cent of the expenses of the United Nations and hopes for a similar percentage of success. The Soviet states will contribute six per cent to expenses and considerably more to debate.

* * *

But we have been incredibly lucky in world affairs. . . . Not only are we permitted to spend more than anybody else on world wars but we are allowed to pick up the tab for world peace.

* * *

No other dopes can make that claim.

But it can't be all luck. . . . It must be intelligent planning that keeps us grabbing for the checks while others fumble for feud facts in their briefcases.

And we got plenty of moolah. . . . The mint isn't even working overtime. Oil up the printing press. . . . That seems to be the slogan!

Truman's Prestige Drops In "Home State."

KANSAS CITY—President Truman's prestige has suffered here in his native state as everywhere else, and this almost surely will result in losses in congress.

There is nothing personal in it. People still feel friendly toward their native son, and sympathetic with him now that he is encompassed by troubles, some inherited, some of his own making. But he is president now, and head of a party. They are voting in the congressional elections on his record in that capacity, not on him as an agreeable and likeable fellow Missourian.

As elsewhere in the country, Republicans are making the Truman administration the issue, and throwing in for good measure the New Deal, with which they also tie up Harry Truman.

Democrats, as elsewhere, do not mention or defend the president. They are running on Franklin D. Roosevelt and the New Deal which, with them, becomes a bright and shining symbol of improvement in the condition of the people generally.

Missouri is a border state and therefore sensitive to political upheavals. It should serve as a good index in this election. During the Roosevelt regime it turned in gradually diminishing majorities, beginning with a 64.5 per cent Democratic vote in 1932 and sliding to 51.5 per cent in 1944. It elected a Republican senator, Forrest C. Donnell, two years ago despite a thin margin for President Roosevelt.

The other senate seat is held by a Democrat, Frank C. Briggs, newspaper publisher and former state legislator. He was appointed by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly to the vacancy created by the election of Harry Truman as vice president. Mr. Briggs is now up for re-election.

Missouri's congressional delegation is almost evenly divided, seven Democrats and six Republicans.

There seems no question of a state-wide Republican majority here in November. It's just a question of size and how it will react in changes in congress. Conservative estimates are that the Republicans will elect a senator and gain two to three house seats. Other estimates are more optimistic for the Republicans, ranging from four to five gains in the house, in addition to a senator.

Any way it is figured, as an index, the prospects certainly indicate election of a Republican house in November. A real sweep here, which most expert analysts can't foresee as yet, would forecast a Republican senate also, but that would be well-nigh a miracle.

The Republican senatorial candidate is James P. Kem, Conservative lawyer, former chairman of the Republican committee of Jackson county, in which Kansas City is located. He has never held elective political office.

Democrats are bucking the discontent against the Truman administration, particularly OPA and strikes, both reflecting in the large farm population and in the cities as well. Outside speakers have been called in to try to mollify the voters.

"Wallace Affair" Is Issue In California.

LOS ANGELES—Here in southern California, the Wallace affair has cut deeper than perhaps anywhere else in the country. The blow-up in the Truman administration shocked liberals and leftists, and their sentiment is a factor to be considered in the election next month.

When he invited Wallace to speak at a big political rally in Los Angeles this week, Democratic State Chairman James Roosevelt knew there were certain risks involved. In what Wallace says, he may alienate the votes of conservative Democrats.

But Roosevelt also knew that it was necessary to take that chance in order to give the left wing of the party something to cheer about and work for. In this state, the liberal-left is far and away the dominating element in the party.

Despite the shock of the Wallace controversy, the Democrats here seem more confident than they are in the east and the middle west. What is more, there seems to be some reason for their confidence.

Differences between left and right are sharper than they are in the rest of the country and therefore the possibility of a mass protest vote to turn the "ins" out is less likely.

The Democrats today hold 16 of California's 23 seats in the house. The Democratic leadership is confident of retaining all but one or two of these seats.

The Democratic candidate for senator is Will Rogers, jr. The name counts for a lot in the west, where the elder Rogers was a folk hero of legendary proportions. Rogers looks much younger than his 34 years, and his personal charm goes over big with California audiences. He gave up a seat in the house to go to war, and that is an asset, too.

Young Rogers does not take naturally to politics. He is inclined to offend those who otherwise could be counted on to be active in his support. In contrast, Jimmy Roosevelt is proving to be a shrewd political operator. During the campaign he is devoting full time to what is not a salaried job, and he is getting around to obscure parts of the state where Democratic leaders have rarely been seen.

Rogers is opposing Sen. William F. Knowland, who is also a young man by senatorial standards, and also a veteran. Knowland, with his attractive wife, is making a campaign which is impressive for its sheer endurance. He is stumping this whole state, with its wonderful variety of geography and climate, from one end to the other.

Starting early in the morning and going until late at night, Knowland makes from 10 to 14 speeches and appearances a day.

He has ridden the Wallace issue hard. While the Democrats in Washington and in the country were still wondering what was going to happen next, Knowland called for Wallace's resignation and for support of Secretary of State Byrnes' "firm" policy toward Russia.

In his fight for re-election, he is handicapped by the fact that California's master politician, Gov. Earl Warren, a Republican, is above the battle, having won both the Republican and the Democratic primaries—something no governor had ever done before.

Warren made certain he would not have to face a contest this fall. Everyone seems to agree that, if he were actively stumping the state, the chances for Knowland and other Republicans to come through would be greatly enhanced.

Farmer's Diary: "Effects of Colors."

THERE is more to COLOR than meets the eye. Every color has not only a visual effect on a person, but it possesses a symbolism and a spiritual influence. Color can intensify mental or physical action.

Color engineers have evolved industrial painting patterns that help increase production, reduce accidents, and raise the morale of workers. Since human reaction to color is universal, the use of eye-rest green on walls and machinery creates a restful atmosphere Yellow on moving parts and danger places indicates "anything might happen."

In technicolor movies, scientific coloring tensifies the emotions of the watchers—though often without their knowing it. Restful, carefree scenes rely on restful colorings, blues and greens predominating. For scenes where "anything may happen" yellow and red are introduced abundantly. For mystery, purple, gray and wierd combinations of lighting.

Store owners have learned that color dynamics can increase sales amazingly. Home owners, instead of colors that "look pretty", or "will last a long time", may now choose those that are easy to live with and really make life more worth living. There is healing power in colors for jaded nerves and a mental stimulation in the study of their effects on people.

Perhaps that is why there is such a worshipful feel to the autumn woods, and hills, where the various greens melt into each other and are splashed with glorious yellows and reds in lavish October. Just to stand—down among the russet cornshocks—and look, is enough to make a man humble for the rest of the year . . . is enough to warm and lift and make peaceful a troubled mind.

Let us not miss the color in life, as we go by.

Timely Editorial

Good Intention Spoiled.

It is becoming more and more evident that while President Truman talks a good economy program he doesn't have the firmness to say 'No" to his administration's spenders.

The latest instance is the announcement of Reconversion Director John R. Steelman that the $900,000,000 "limit" on federal works projects for the current fiscal year has been boosted to $1,200,000,000.

If there was to be any hope at all of balancing the federal budget, one of the most logical expenses to cut was public works. Furthermore, with the demand for private building at an all-time high, it made sense for the federal government to go easy on construction.

But the administration evidently could not resist the anguished cries of congressmen and miscellaneous pressure groups whose pet projects were in danger of being deferred.—Akron Beacon Journal.

VET INSURANCE DIVIDEND DUE

Spokesman Has Good News For Policy Holders.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Nearly every serviceman or woman who held government life insurance can expect eventually to get a dividend payment, a Veterans Administration spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the payment in many cases will at least equal the cost of converting wartime insurance into permanent policies.

First payments will probably be made in about a year, the spokesman said, although it may be longer. The Veterans Administration is now checking the 18,000,000 file cards to determine how much of a dividend is due on each policy. The exact amount of money available for dividend distribution has not yet been determined.

In all, about 15,000,000 individuals held the 18,000,000 government life insurance policies. About two-thirds of these, or 10,000,000 have been allowed to lapse, but dividends will be paid on these policies as well as those still in force.

The three major factors in determining the size of the dividend on an individual policy, the spokesman said, are the amount of the insurance, the age of the policy holder and the length of time he held the policy.

The spokesman explained that the National Service Life Insurance program is organized on a mutual basis, and that the dividend payment is comparable to that made by a private mutual insurance company that finds itself with a surplus.

"Nobody makes a profit on government life insurance operations," he said. "The extra money goes back to the policyholders in the form of a dividend."

Movies Finally Sign Up Jean

HOLLYWOOD —(U.P.)— Jean Peters, 20-year-old Ohio State university student who made what she considered a fruitless trip to Hollywood a year ago, has been selected for the leading role of Catana in the movie "Captain From Castile."

Named "Miss Ohio State" in a newspaper contest, Miss Peters, the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Peters of Canton, was rewarded with a free ride to Hollywood, met the stars, did the rounds of night spots and was given a test by Twentieth Century Fox. When nothing happened, she wangled a reservation for an upper berth and went home.

Then her tests came to the attention of Darryl Zanuck, production head of the studio, who called her back.

A location company will go to Mexico in two weeks to start filming, expected to take five months. Tyrone Power stars in the film.

PART OF CAR GONE

WARREN —(U.P.)— What happened to the rest of an automobile after a passenger train sheared off its trunk, rear bumper and license plate at a crossing here, troubled Erie railroad officials today. Trainmen could find no trace of the car after the locomotive ground to a stop, but police said the license plate was issued to a man in nearby Leavittsburg.

Republicans Driving to Take House of Representatives Control

SURVEY SHOWS GOP HAS EDGE IN HOT FIGHT

Portents 12 Days Ahead of Balloting Give Hint of Possible Landslide.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The Republican party appears certain today to win control of the new house of representatives in November's national election.

An International News Service survey indicates the Republicans will have a minimum working majority of forty-one votes in the house that takes office next Jan. 3.

The Republicans appear certain to gain 47 seats. They are favored in five other races, which would give them a majority of 51 votes.

Signs of Landslide.

There are some signs of an impending Republican landslide, in which 22 more seats could go to the GOP. This outcome would give the Republicans a clear majority of 72 votes in the next house.

These are the portents 12 days before the balloting. Last minute changes of sentiment on the part of voters might overcome the present strong Republican trend across the nation. One great Democratic chieftain, former national chairman James A. Farley, however, has said there can be no material change of a national trend after Oct. 15.

It appears today the Republicans will elect 238 members out of 435 in the new house. One Independent, and possibly a second, is favored. This would leave the Democrats 196 or 195 votes.

Five more house races are close, with Republicans presently favored. If all five are elected, the new house would line up: 243 Republicans, 191 Democrats, 1 Independent.

The survey was conducted by "off the record" talks with national and sectional leaders of both parties and by reports from INS staff correspondents in all sections of the nation.

Revolt In Making.

There appears to be a national revolt in the making against the Truman administration. This is reflected in the congressional races by an apparent nation-wide desire to defeat the Democrats who served in the house in the Truman administration. There is widespread dissatisfaction with government controls—a dissatisfaction that doesn't seem to have changed with the lifting of meat and other federal controls.

The Republicans naturally are jubilant. The Democrats are keeping a stiff upper lip publicly but privately they are at the wailing wall. Democratic chieftains report privately a flood of appeals for more orators and more campaign funds. Many Democratic leaders say privately they have no hopes whatever of retaining control of the house.

One midwestern INS correspondent summed up the Democratic situation thusly:

"Lord, how the Democrats miss Roosevelt."

Republican house gains seem certain clear across the nation. A total of 47 gains are scattered:

California: Five with four other races close; Connecticut: Four; Delaware, one; Illinois, six; Indiana, one; Kentucky, three, with two more close races in sight; Maryland, two; Michigan, two; with one more race close; Minnesota, two; Missouri, three, with three more races close; New Mexico, two close contests in the congressmen-at-large races.

New York, four, with two other races close; Ohio, three with three other races close, including one seated Republican; Oklahoma, three close races; Pennsylvania, five, with four other races close; Washington, one, with three other races close; West Virginia, three, with two other races close, including a seated Republican; Wisconsin, two with a third race in doubt.

Hull Switches.

There were two Independents in the present house—the Progressive Hull in the ninth Wisconsin and the American Laborite Marcantonio in the eighteenth New York. Hull switched his allegiance to the Republicans and is certain of re-election. Marcantonio faces a sharp battle but presently is favored to win.

In Wisconsin's fourth, another Independent may be elected. He is Thad Wasielewski, who served as a Democrat in the present house but was defeated for renomination. This is the most confused race in the nation with a Socialist as the Republican nominee and the Democratic nominee accused of being a Communist.

There has been record off-year registrations in many large cities. This gave the Democrats hope of victory since most cities supported the Roosevelt regime with heavy majorities. However local polls show a heavy gain in Republican strength in cities like New York, Philadelphia, Detroit and even Chicago, longtime Democratic stronghold.

Area Workers Get $55,970 Monthly In Federal Benefits

Some 3,138 individuals in the Mansfield area are receiving benefits totaling more than $55,970 per month, Edward P. Blonston, manager of the Mansfield Social Security office, reported today. This amount represents old-age and survivors benefits.

"This is more than $671,700 annually that is paid to men, women and children in the area which includes Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Knox and Morrow counties," Blonston pointed out.

In addition, 90 lump-sum death benefits, totaling $10,203 were paid in the last quarter, Blonston said.

"We are now handling an average of 32 claims per week as compared with 10 a week two and a half years ago," Blonston added.

"These figures prove the significance of the program, the purpose of which is to replace in part those wages which the wage earner loses when he is compelled to retire."

Blonston pointed out that many workers over 65 lose benefits because they are not aware of the fact that they can draw benefits for each month in which they do not work, regardless of the reason for their lack of employment.

Upon the death or a worker, in a job covered by Social Security law, a member of his family should immediately call the nearest Social Security office to insure that no benefits are lost, Blonston advised.

SYMPHONY ON TOUR

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—The Indianapolis Symphony orchestra's concert tour this winter will include five Ohio cities, Dr. Fabien Savitzky, the conductor, announced last night. They are: Feb. 3, Lancaster; Feb. 4, Marietta; Feb. 5, East Liverpool; Feb. 20, Marion, and Feb. 21, Piqua.

'Madisonian' Staff Chosen

Joy Sauder and Jo Ann Norris, pupils at Madison high school, are the new editors of "The Madisonian," annual year book of the school, Wayne E. Miller, principal, has announced.

The entire staff of the 1946-47 annual also was selected by the principal and other members of the faculty, Miller said.

Charles Campbell and Kenneth Gabor were named advertising managers; Shirley Dillon, class prophecy; Norma Mitchell, faculty write-up; Jack Kenton, senior write-up; Barbara Keipp, class will; Marie Uhl, class history; Marjorie Hoover, art editor.

Eleanor Winesburg, sophomore write-up; Fredrick Frost, junior write-up; Lucille Berry and Janet Rose, snapshots; Eugene Barr, dramatics; Robert Criblez, Latin club; Mary Alice McFarland, paper staff; Esther Betz, home economics; Norma Hammett, girl reserve; Kathryn Beer, speech club, and Gertrude Neumann, calendar.

America's dwindling petroleum supply was seriously depleted during the war when the United States was called on to supply 90 per cent of allied gasoline needs.

Republicans Driving to Take House of Representatives Control

SURVEY SHOWS GOP HAS EDGE IN HOT FIGHT

Portents 12 Days Ahead of Balloting Give Hint of Possible Landslide.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The Republican party appears certain today to win control of the new house of representatives in November's national election.

An International News Service survey indicates the Republicans will have a minimum working majority of forty-one votes in the house that takes office next Jan. 3.

The Republicans appear certain to gain 47 seats. They are favored in five other races, which would give them a majority of 51 votes.

Signs of Landslide.

There are some signs of an impending Republican landslide, in which 22 more seats could go to the GOP. This outcome would give the Republicans a clear majority of 72 votes in the next house.

These are the portents 12 days before the balloting. Last minute changes of sentiment on the part of voters might overcome the present strong Republican trend across the nation. One great Democratic chieftain, former national chairman James A. Farley, however, has said there can be no material change of a national trend after Oct. 15.

It appears today the Republicans will elect 238 members out of 435 in the new house. One Independent, and possibly a second, is favored. This would leave the Democrats 196 or 195 votes.

Five more house races are close, with Republicans presently favored. If all five are elected, the new house would line up: 243 Republicans, 191 Democrats, 1 Independent.

The survey was conducted by "off the record" talks with national and sectional leaders of both parties and by reports from INS staff correspondents in all sections of the nation.

Revolt In Making.

There appears to be a national revolt in the making against the Truman administration. This is reflected in the congressional races by an apparent nation-wide desire to defeat the Democrats who served in the house in the Truman administration. There is widespread dissatisfaction with government controls—a dissatisfaction that doesn't seem to have changed with the lifting of meat and other federal controls.

The Republicans naturally are jubilant. The Democrats are keeping a stiff upper lip publicly but privately they are at the wailing wall. Democratic chieftains report privately a flood of appeals for more orators and more campaign funds. Many Democratic leaders say privately they have no hopes whatever of retaining control of the house.

One midwestern INS correspondent summed up the Democratic situation thusly:

"Lord, how the Democrats miss Roosevelt."

Republican house gains seem certain clear across the nation. A total of 47 gains are scattered:

California: Five with four other races close; Connecticut: Four; Delaware, one; Illinois, six; Indiana, one; Kentucky, three, with two more close races in sight; Maryland, two; Michigan, two; with one more race close; Minnesota, two; Missouri, three, with three more races close; New Mexico, two close contests in the congressmen-at-large races.

New York, four, with two other races close; Ohio, three with three other races close, including one seated Republican; Oklahoma, three close races; Pennsylvania, five, with four other races close; Washington, one, with three other races close; West Virginia, three, with two other races close, including a seated Republican; Wisconsin, two with a third race in doubt.

Hull Switches.

There were two Independents in the present house—the Progressive Hull in the ninth Wisconsin and the American Laborite Marcantonio in the eighteenth New York. Hull switched his allegiance to the Republicans and is certain of re-election. Marcantonio faces a sharp battle but presently is favored to win.

In Wisconsin's fourth, another Independent may be elected. He is Thad Wasielewski, who served as a Democrat in the present house but was defeated for renomination. This is the most confused race in the nation with a Socialist as the Republican nominee and the Democratic nominee accused of being a Communist.

There has been record off-year registrations in many large cities. This gave the Democrats hope of victory since most cities supported the Roosevelt regime with heavy majorities. However local polls show a heavy gain in Republican strength in cities like New York, Philadelphia, Detroit and even Chicago, longtime Democratic stronghold.

Area Workers Get $55,970 Monthly In Federal Benefits

Some 3,138 individuals in the Mansfield area are receiving benefits totaling more than $55,970 per month, Edward P. Blonston, manager of the Mansfield Social Security office, reported today. This amount represents old-age and survivors benefits.

"This is more than $671,700 annually that is paid to men, women and children in the area which includes Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Knox and Morrow counties," Blonston pointed out.

In addition, 90 lump-sum death benefits, totaling $10,203 were paid in the last quarter, Blonston said.

"We are now handling an average of 32 claims per week as compared with 10 a week two and a half years ago," Blonston added.

"These figures prove the significance of the program, the purpose of which is to replace in part those wages which the wage earner loses when he is compelled to retire."

Blonston pointed out that many workers over 65 lose benefits because they are not aware of the fact that they can draw benefits for each month in which they do not work, regardless of the reason for their lack of employment.

Upon the death of a worker, in a job covered by Social Security law, a member of his family should immediately call the nearest Social Security office to insure that no benefits are lost, Blonston advised.

SYMPHONY ON TOUR

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—The Indianapolis Symphony orchestra's concert tour this winter will include five Ohio cities, Dr. Fabien Savitzky, the conductor, announced last night. They are: Feb. 3, Lancaster; Feb. 4, Marietta; Feb. 5, East Liverpool; Feb. 20, Marion, and Feb. 21, Piqua.

'Madisonian' Staff Chosen

Joy Sauder and Jo Ann Norris, pupils at Madison high school, are the new editors of "The Madisonian," annual year book of the school, Wayne E. Miller, principal, has announced.

The entire staff of the 1946-47 annual also was selected by the principal and other members of the faculty, Miller said.

Charles Campbell and Kenneth Gabor were named advertising managers; Shirley Dillon, class prophecy; Norma Mitchell, faculty write-up; Jack Kenton, senior write-up; Barbara Keipp, class will; Marie Uhl, class history; Marjorie Hoover, art editor.

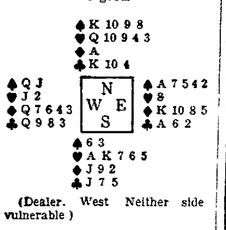
Barclay On Bridge

EVERYBODY likes to get his money's worth. Nobody likes to pay more than he has to for anything. That principle applies to the making of a sacrifice bid It is sometimes wiser to take a chance in a slightly less safe trump suit than to sacrifice a trick higher in a much more secure trump. Even if you lose one more trick, you are at the same windup as if you tried the higher contract. And it may turn out that you lose only the same number of tricks In that event, you are one to the good.



(Dealer. West Neither side vulnerable)

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♥	1 ♠	2 ♥
Pass	3 ♥	4 ♠	4 ♥
5 ♦	Dbl

East did not play the hand especially well As it was, he lost a total of five tricks and was down three, the defense getting tricks with the heart K, the diamond A and J and the club K and 10 after East had used a lead of the club 8 to the A as one entry to his hand.

Following the bad result, East told his partner that the latter should have sacrificed in 4-Spades instead of 5-Diamonds, as it would have been one trick lower

They reviewed the possible play of the hand to show that good play against normal defense would have limited the opponents to tricks with the heart K, diamond A and two ruffed tricks That would have meant the side would get set only one trick

"Furthermore," said East, "we might have got away with that bid without being doubled And, if we were doubled, you would then have had the option of passing or taking out into 5-Diamonds"

But of course the partners didn't agree after the argument They seldom do That old boy was right—who was he?—when he said: "A man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still"

Chief Issues Fire Warning

A warning that Halloween celebrations may result in tragic fires unless care is taken was sounded today by Fire Chief L. J. Steele.

The chief urged night clubs and halls not to use combustible decorations and cautioned celebrators about flimsy costumes and candlelit, paper Jack-o-lanterns.

In a joint statement with the National Fire Protection association, Chief Steele urged all Mansfield restaurants, night clubs and other public places to be sure that exits are unobstructed and clearly marked and that fire fighting equipment is ready for use.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feehng, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Safety's 'Psychological Problem,' Engineers Told at Conference

SPEAKER SAYS WORKERS MUST BE TRAINED

H. L. Sain of Ohio, Industrial Commission Addresses Session in City.

More than 125 safety engineers and consultants, attending the closing session of the Mansfield second regional safety conference in the Mansfield-Leland hotel ballroom last night, were told that safety work is "a battle of personalities."

Delegates also saw a practical demonstration of the miracles of modern science by Dr. Phillips Thomas, Westinghouse research engineer.

Harry L. Sain, superintendent of the division of safety and hygiene, Industrial Commission of Ohio, said accident prevention today no longer is dependent on the development of safety equipment but is a "psychological problem."

"Safety is a matter of training men properly," he said. "We can't prevent accidents if a man acts carelessly."

G. L. Coffinberry, chairman of the industrial commission, made an unexpected appearance at the dinner and was introduced to delegates.

He spoke briefly to the delegates, made up of safety engineers from Mansfield and nine other nearby communities.

Other speakers included C. L. Van Derau, works manager of the Westinghouse plant; Mayor Roy W. Vaughn; President Reese Mills of the Chamber of Commerce, and H. W. Dailey of the chamber's safety council.

Dr. Thomas traced the history of radio from its inception as a mathematical possibility in 1865 up to the present "merging" of light waves and radio waves, known as radar.

Gives Demonstration.

He pointed out that many of the modern developments of electronics first were used as "magicians' tricks." Through the use of an electric "eye," Dr. Thomas turned lights on and off, and he demonstrated many other mystifying exhibits.

Fred B. Hout, vice president of the Barnes Manufacturing company, was toastmaster at the dinner. Rev. Samuel U. J. Peard, rector of the Grace Episcopal church, gave the invocation, and Charles Conklin, Mansfield architect, acted as song leader.

Discussions were held yesterday afternoon on safety practices with metal power presses and in chemical, rubber and foundry industries.

Mother Follows Daughter in Surrender to Death.

HALF MOON BAY, Cal.—(INS)—A tragic double suicide was uncovered by authorities yesterday as they investigated the deaths of a wealthy mother and her 23-year-old daughter.

Found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning were Mrs. Isabelle Stanley and her daughter, Elizabeth. Their bodies were in the family car parked in the garage of their home near Half Moon Bay.

Deputy Sheriff Jack O'Brien said that the girl, still grieving over the death of her brother who was killed in World War II, was the first to commit suicide. Apparently, continued O'Brien, her mother found the girl's body in the car and decided to take her own life in the same manner. Two suicide notes substantiated this theory.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

On Playing the Fiddle Badly

A favorite recreation in our town is getting together in one or another's home and making music. There's somebody at the piano; a guitar; a fiddle player; and Molly Birtles even has a harp!

What comes out isn't the best music in the whole world. In fact, a lot of it is downright bad. But nobody even thinks to question or to criticize.

Because the spirit of harmony is there—harmony between folks who like each other's company, who enjoy the simple, homey atmosphere —with nothing more exciting than old songs, and a glass of moderate beer or cider.

From where I sit, it's a heap more important to be a poor fiddle player, than not to play at all. More important to be a part of the American scene—with its community music, home entertainment, friendly glass of beer — than to hold out for professional perfection. (Besides, I like to play the fiddle even badly!)

Nurses Alumnae Give Costume Prizes at Party

The senior class of nurses at Mansfield General hospital were guests Tuesday evening at a masquerade Halloween party held in the Nurses' home by the hospital Nurses' Alumnae.

Miss Wanda Pry was chairman in charge of entertainment and decorations with Mrs. Robert Schrack in charge of the food.

Prize for the most original costume went to Mrs. John Lorentz with Mrs. William Wattner as best dressed and Mrs. Harvey Fitzsimmons as the funniest. Contest prizes were won by Miss Dorothy Bird, Mrs. Harry German, Mrs. Robert Au and Mrs. Schrack.

The entertainment was furnished by three student nurses, Miss Ruth Frey, who gave a reading, and the Misses Iva De Pue and Glada Oswalt who presented musical numbers. Nov. 4 will be the next 8 p. m. meeting at the Nurses' home.

Tablets containing fluorine compounds, to be melted in the mouth in order to ward off dental decay, will be available soon on prescription.

Mansfield Man Weds In Shelby

Details have been received regarding the wedding of Miss Ethel Marie Laughbaum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Laughbaum of Shelby and Lloyd Morris Hoover, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd M. Hoover, sr., 322 Dudley avenue, Mansfield.

The ceremony took place Oct. 20 in the Methodist church of Shelby with Rev. George Beebe officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, attired in a smoke white wool street-length dress trimmed with gray and brown accessories was given in marriage by her father. Her corsage was of tea roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown of Bloomville, best man and matron-of-honor, while Carl Whisler of Mansfield and Elwood Fried of Tiro served as ushers.

The bride is a graduate of Shelby high school. Mr. Hoover attended Mansfield Senior high school and served 13 months in the U. S. Navy.

Following a wedding trip to Indiana, Michigan and Canada, they will reside in Shelby.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, October 25.

THE configurations for this day must be deemed as generally trying, difficult and adverse, unless a very rigid control be kept on all endeavors, actions, words and personal conduct. If the emotional, tempestuous, temperamental and ill-natured acts be allowed free scope there might be precipitated a disastrous and devastating state of affairs. With sane and far-seeing ideas and plans be kept in mind, with strict handling of funds, energies and emotions, there are substantial ends in sight.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year on which happy and progressive denouements depend upon the regulation of personal propensities, which seem to lie in the direction of indulgence, tumult, extravagance in funds, energies and emotions. Impulsive and reckless moves exact penalties of far-reaching significance, affecting possessions, position, progress and peace of mind. Maintain calm, balance and good nature for benefic returns.

A child born on this day will be energetic and impetuous, with inclinations to overdo in act, word and attitude, to his detriment.

SEEKERS BIBLE CLUB.

Yesterday afternoon members of the Seeker's Bible club met at the home of Mrs. Weldon Schaaf, Forest street. Devotions were given by Mrs. D. J. Pittinger and Mrs. Harvey Borden led the devotions. Mrs. Ervin Remy conducted the business meeting. Nov. 13 Mrs. E. C. Pankow, Greenwood avenue will entertain.

The Fine Art of the Apothecary has not been lost

● The old apothecary of other years was a mysterious and romantic figure. Under his magic influence roots, herbs, and minerals were turned into pills, extracts, and plasters. The doctor's prescriptions were filled, the patient's health and comfort restored. Although much of the mystery with which he was surrounded has vanished, the fine art of the apothecary has not been lost. A visit to our prescription department will convince the most skeptical that his function is an important adjunct to modern medical practice. When you find it necessary to consult a physician, bring your prescriptions to us to be filled. Your doctor's orders will be followed to the letter.

Betting's Even Rupert Misses Sausage Mill

SULPHUR, Okla.—(AP)—If you think you have troubles, consider the plight of Rupert, the $38,000 sterile bull.

Rupert has just received an ultimatum.

"Either he becomes a father soon or he goes to market," Rupert's owner, rancher and Oklahoma gubernatorial Candidate Roy J. Turner, sorrowfully decided.

Now as everyone knows, going to market offers no future for a bull.

But don't sell Rupert short.

He is now in the midst of a series of treatments which, on the basis of early returns, put the odds about even on him to miss the sausage mill.

In fact, Wayne F. Fox, the big feed man from Des Moines, who personally took Rupert to Iowa for the new treatments, has sent back some reports that look mighty good.

"The bull," Fox informed Turner, "is working better and I am confident that within six months we will have some interesting news."

One big thing in Rupert's favor is his attitude.

All observers agree that his approach to his problem leaves nothing to be desired except calves.

Outside help in the form of hormones, vitamins and advice has been showered upon Rupert without success since his plight first became known.

That was back in January, 1943, Turner painfully remembers.

ACTRESS ILL

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—(U.P.)—Actress Carole Landis was a patient in St. John's hospital today with what was described as "an acute abdominal condition." Dr W. L Marxer, who described her condition as serious but not critical, said she probably could leave the hospital in 10 days "if all goes well."

PRESIDENT Harry S. Truman is shown on the speakers' platform as he told the representatives of a billion and a half of the earth's people at the United Nations general assembly session in New York City that future war is unthinkable if the lofty principles of the United Nations are earnestly supported. In a realistic speech, the U. S. chief executive declared "either we succeed or the world goes back to disorder, to chaos and finally to war." (International Sound-photo.)

DAV RAPS BONUS

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Blanket bonus for World War II veterans has been ruled out by the national commander of the Disabled American Veterans. Here to visit DAV national headquarters, Commander Lloyd F. Oleson of Ventura, Calif, declared emphatically: "We are opposed to any general bequest. Our purpose is to rehabilitate the injured and make them useful citizens, not professional pensioners."

Carnegie Class Enrolls Friday

A demonstration meeting and enrollment for the Dale Carnegie Institute in Mansfield will be held at the American Legion hall Friday at 8 p. m.

Classes will start Monday, Oct. 28, at the Eagles building. They will meet twice weekly, on Monday and Friday nights.

The Veterans' Administration and Ohio department of education have approved this training for World War II vets who should provide their letter of eligibility or form 1950 and a photostat of their discharge papers. The course deducts eight weeks from time allotted for educational purposes.

Courses are offered in human relations, salesmanship, and effective speaking. Classes will be limited to 42 persons. Anyone over 18 is eligible, according to Dr. J. Walter Ruskin who set up arrangements for the Mansfield institute.

PRICE CONTROL DECLINE HELPS BUOY MARKETS

Buyers Continue Display of Caution Despite Flare of Bullish Sentiment.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Assorted stocks continued to make a fair amount of progress in today's markets while many leaders stumbled.

Decontrols of food, liquor and other consumer items continued to buoy bullish sentiment, brokers reported, but numerous customers held to the cautious side because of growing labor disputes threatening industrial production.

Resistant were Republican Steel, South Porto Rico sugar, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Electric Power Light, Anaconda, Southern Railway and Consolidated Edison. Laggards were Schenley, National Distillers, Philip Morris, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Great Northern, American Telephone and Woolworth.

Plywood Houses Get 'Go' Signal

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt today cleared the way for production of 7500 plywood houses to be sold to veterans at an erected cost of about $68000.

The houses will be factory-built by American Fabricators, Louisville, Ky. Two hundred will be produced this year, the remainder, next year. Wyatt directed the reconstruction Finance Corp., to guarantee the sale of 2,000 of the houses, under the "guaranteed market" clause of the veterans housing act.

ATTACKS DAD

Father, Two Sons Hurt in Cutting-Shooting Fray.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Police reported that a 53-year-old suburban Middleburg Heights man and his son were hospitalized today as a result of a cutting-shooting fray in which another son also was involved.

James D. Kingsley, the father, was reported in poor condition at suburban Berea hospita lwith stab wounds in the head, body, wrist and both legs.

His son, Robert, 33, who was shot, according to police, by James Kingsley, jr., to stop the assault on the father, spent a good night in Cleveland City hospital.

FLAYS MONOPOLY

BOSTON—(AP)—U. S. Attorney General Tom C. Clark declared today that monopolists have barred discovered products and inventions from the American market and that vitamins have been kept from the "poor and the lame."

SOAP HAS WHISKERS

WEYMOUTH, Mass. —(UP)— Samuel Schofield opened a carton of army surplus commodities he had purchased recently and found it contained 64 bars of soap originally intended for troops of the Union Army in the Civil War.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

The G. & C. Merriam Co., which publishes the Webster dictionary, regrets it cannot print the following definition of "boy" but I think readers will enjoy it. The authorship is unknown; Merriam considers it "authentic folklore."

BOY: After a male baby has grown out of long clothes and triangles and has acquired pants, freckles, and so much dirt that relatives do not dare to kiss it between meals, it becomes a BOY A boy is Nature's answer to that false belief that there is no such thing as perpetual motion . . .

A boy can swim like a fish, run like a deer, climb like a squirrel, balk like a mule, eat like a pig, and act like a jackass, according to climactic conditions. He is a piece of skin stretched over an appetite. A noise covered with smudges. He is called a tornado because he comes at the most unexpected times, hits the most unexpected places, and leaves everything a wreck behind him. He is a growing animal of superlative promise, to be fed, watered, and kept warm, a joy forever, a periodic nuisance, the problem of our times, the hope of a nation. Every boy born is evidence that God is not yet discouraged of men. Boys faithfully imitate their dads in spite of all efforts to teach them good manners. A boy, if not washed too often and if kept in a cool, quiet place after each accident, will survive broken bones, hornets, swimming holes ,fights, and nine helpings of pie.

Ship Tieup Won't Halt GI Packages

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The maritime strike is not expected to delay the movement of Christmas mail and packages to servicemen overseas, Maj. Gen. Edmon H Leavey, chief of army transportation, said today.

Christmas mail goes overseas aboard army transports, he said, and it is the policy of the national committee for maritime unity not to interfere with the movement of army cargo.

CIO Prepares to Open Second Round of Auto Wage Fight Oct. 30

UNION SILENT ON DETAILS OF NEW DEMANDS

Negotiation Outcome Likely to Set Pattern For Entire Industry.

DETROIT —(INS)— The CIO-United Automobile Workers announced late yesterday that negotiations with the Chrysler corporation for a "second round" of wage increases will open at 10 a. m. Oct. 30.

Norman Matthews, the UAW's Chrysler department director, did not reveal the nature of the wage-price policy on which the UAW-Chrysler talks will be based. The union's formula was secretly revised by the UAW International Executive board in Cleveland last week-end.

Matthews said that all but two of Chrysler's plants were represented at yesterday's meeting. The absentees were Kokomo, Ind., and Los Angeles representatives.

Matthews said that the local officials voted unanimously to support the new wage-price policy.

The outcome of these negotiations, labor and management circles believe, will determine the wage pattern for the entire auto industry perhaps for all CIO unions.

The situation today is similar to that which prevailed when the UAW selected General Motors as the "guinea pig" for determining post-war pay rates within the industry last fall.

Negotiations with Chrysler were selected as the present battle ground because the company is the only one of the big three auto makers whose contract with the union permits wage negotiations at this time.

The union cannot, according to their contract, reopen the wage question with Ford until April and the GM wage agreement is binding until next May.

A symposium of opinion of Chrysler workers conducted by International News Service indicates that they and their families are prepared to strike for their wage demands if necessary—"but only if a short and successful strike seemed assured."

1947 Auto Tires to Be More Rubber

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Next year's automobile tires are going to have a lot more real rubber in them. The Civilian Production administration disclosed today that it expects a higher-than-normal supply of natural rubber to be available in this country in 1947. This will make possible the use of 33 to 50 per cent natural rubber in making passenger automobile tires. Present tires are about 13 per cent natural rubber. The rest is synthetic.

SPEAK FOR THEIR TEACHERS—These Senior high school speech students will appear before Mansfield civic ad social clubs as speakers for the three-mill levy to increase teachers' and other school employes' salaries. The levy, which would raise approximately $190,000 annually for five years, will be presented to voters at the Nov. 5 election. Reduction of Rates Causes Boom In Airmail Stamp Sales

Mounting sales of air mail stamps at the Mansfield post office are offering proof of Mansfielders' desire for air mail service, post office officials said today.

Postmaster Curis L. Ford cited figures. Durig the war, when the men were overseas in large numbers airmail stamp sales totaled betwen 25,000 and 30,000 stamps a month, Ford said.

With the cessation of hostilities and the return to the United States of the majority of service men, sales fell to an average of 4,000 stamps per month. Then came the reduction of domestic air mail rates to five cents, effective the first of the month. Air mail stamp sales since then have mounted to more than 5,000 per week Ford pointed out.

A comparison of sales shows that during the last three weeks of September, when the old six and eight-cent rate was in effect, only 3,000 air mail stamps were sold. However, 15,500 stamps were sold in the first three weeks of October under the new reduced rate.

If Mansfield is successful in obtaining the air feeder lines the city is requesting, short-haul air mail will be speeded by being picked up at the municipal airport, Ford pointed out. This will benefit not only this community, but others surrounding Mansfield who will utilize the service, Ford added.

18 ESTHONIANS SET SAIL AGAIN

U. S. Denies Refugees Entry; They Seek New Refuge.

MIAMI, Fla. —(U.P.)— Eighteen Estonian refugees had risked an ocean crossing to escape from their Russian-occupied homeland, prepared to set sail today, apparently for the Dominican republic.

They were the first of 48 Estonians ordered to leave American shores in their three small sloops and seek admittance under normal immigration quotas.

The deadline for their departure, as announced by immigration officials, was set at 11 a. m. (EST). The order applied to the 18, since they were the first to dock at a Floridian port. The others will face similar exlusion orders in the near future.

Included in the group who must leave are two children. Last minute efforts to permit entrance to the Bahamas or to Cuba failed.

It was understood that officials might agree to extend the departure time if the refugees are unable to make necessary repairs to their vessel, battred by the three-months ocean voyage.

Liberals Hold Slim Majority

OTTAWA— (INS) —Prime Minister Mackenzie King's Liberal government held a working majority of only two seats today in the Canadian house of commons. The Liberal party majority was said to be the slimmest ever to keep a government in power in Canadian history.

Opposition candidates won two by-elections Monday. Harold Timmins, Progressive Conservative, won easily in a five-cornered fight in Toronto. Parkdale Riding and C. C. Miller, another Progressive Conservative, was victor in Portage La Prairie.

The average salinity of Great Salt Lake, Utah, is almost six times greater than that of the ocean.

BESS MYERSON, the Bronx, N. Y., girl who won "Miss America" honors in 1945, marries ex-GI Allen Wayne, a doll manufacturer, at White Plains, N. Y. They met six months ago. (International).

JUDGES WAIT

AKRON —(AP)— A long shave kept three judges waiting here before they could sentence James J. Bickett, 50, to life imprisonment. Charged with the April 17 slaying of his 20-year-old stepdaughter in suburban Cuyahoga Falls, Bickett refused to appear in court until he shaved. The Summit county judges waited without complaint, then passed the mandatory sentence.

British Lord Pays Visit to Iowa Farm Boy

WEBSTER CITY, Ia. —(U.P.)— This community in the heart of the tall corn buzzed today with the story of how a farm boy's boasts about Iowa prompted the British ambassador to come and see for himself.

Ambassador Archibald John Clark-Kerr spent last week at the home of Roger Newburn, 21, but the visit was kept secret until the diplomat had returned to Washington.

Clark-Kerr said he wanted it that way. When Newburn and his parents learned that he was coming they were worried about how to entertain an ambassador with the title of Lord Inver-Chapel

But Clark-Kerr set their minds at rest. He wrote them that all he wanted was good food, rest, a chance to see the country and talk to the people. He said he did not want newsmen or photographers.

During his stay he visited local farms and the hybrid seed corn plant at Clarion, Ia. For the first time in his life he saw a combine and a corn picker at work.

Thursday night he talked with neighboring farmers who visited the Newburn home.

When he saw the productivity of Iowa farmland he said

"God has been good to this country."

Clark-Kerr's visit was the result of a meeting with young Newburn at Washington The youth and 35 other 4-H club members called on the British ambassador last August.

Young Newburn made some boasts about Iowa and when the ambassador expressed doubt in a jocular vein, Newburn reddened and replied·

"If you don't believe it come and see for yourself."

The ambassador said he would, and took down Newburn's name and address When he returned home, Newburn put the invitation in writing and not long ago received a reply.

The Newburns said that despite their worries about entertaining a British lord it was a "fine visit."

"The ambassador is a swell guy," said Newburn.

Device Prevents Seat Fumbling

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn — (U.P.) —A new device to help theater patrons find seats in darkened movie houses has been invented by W F. Dixon of Chattanooga

Whenever a seat is taken the mechanism will flash a light on a panel at the end of the row The seat shopper has only to look at the number of lights to tell how many seats in the row are vacant

The problem of hats and coats dumped in empty seats has been solved too Dixon fixes his contraption so lights won't flash unless the seat supports a minimum of 20 pounds

Carbon monoxide and hydrogen combine to make gasoline and water in the presence of a catalyst —a chemical agent which promotes a chemical reaction without taking part in that reaction.

Proposes Agency To Treat Drunks

SACRAMENTO, Calif. —(U.P.) —A state agency to which local law enforcement agencies may commit habitual drunks has been proposed by a California legislative committee after investigating city and county jails throughout the state.

The committee reported that overcrowded conditions in many of the jails were due to a great to an increasing number of arrests for drunkenness By taking the habitual inebriates off the hands of the local authorities, the proposal stated, police departments could devote more time and expense to more serious crime detection.

SALT STATISTICS

NEW YORK —(INS)— Although salt is a precious commodity in some countries because of its scarcity, the world has an untouched inexhaustible supply in the ocean. It has been estimated there are 14 quadrillion tons of salt in the seas, with rivers adding 100 million tons a year. If recovered, this amount would stack up in a layer a mile and a half deep over the entire United States.

IN MEMORIAM of Max Wilson who was killed in action two years ago today, Oct 24th 1944

No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who lost can tell
Of grief we bear in silence
For the one we loved so well.

Friends may think we have forgot you
When they see us smile;
Little do they know our sorrow
That is hid behind a smile

Words can t tell how we miss you,
How we miss your smiling face;
But you left us to remember,
None on earth can take your place.

Announcing THE FORMAL Opening

Of Your New

DeSoto--Plymouth Dealer

TOMORROW, OCTOBER 25th - - 9 A.M. TO 9 P.M.

G. F. SCHONAUER

A. F. EITELGEORGE

FLOWERS WILL BE PRESENTED TO THE LADIES

SEE . . . .

Our display of new DeSoto and Plymouth cars. Any way you look at them you'll admire their flowing, graceful lines. If it's Beauty, Safety, Comfort and Performance you are looking for, you'll be sure to find it in one of these Chrysler products.

You may have to wait a while before your new DeSoto or Plymouth is delivered—but isn't a car that offers so much that is proven, well worth waiting for" Even though new cars are scarce, we suggest that now is the time to examine the new DeSoto and Plymouth. Compare them with any of the other cars. Then we are confident that you'll say, "There's my next car."

A WORD ABOUT SERVICE

Nobody is better able to safeguard your health than your own family doctor—because he knows you so well. He takes a special interest in you. To him, your health is more than a record on a card. It is his personal responsibility.

We feel the same way about your car. To us, a DeSoto or a Plymouth can never be just another automobile. We understand them. We admire their fine engineering. And we have a very real sense of responsibility when we service them.

Moreover, we are set up to do a better job. We have special tools and equipment. We have factory-engineered and inspected service parts. And the members of our service staff have been specially trained.

Today, your car is far too valuable to take chances on service. It deserves professional attention. Let us keep your car in tip-top condition. Chances are, we can save you money too.

WINTERIZE NOW!

Save costly repair bills later by having our service department give your car a complete Winter Check-up. Our check-up is thorough and includes: Motor Tuning, Brake adjusting and relining, if necessary, Battery and Ignition service, Radiator cleaned and anti-freeze added, and Winter Lubricants.

You'll take greater pride in driving your car and it will have more value too, if it is free of squeaks, rattles and rust. Here is what to do, have dents bumped out and refinished, have rust spots removed and touched up, have body and chassis tightened, and have car cleaned and polished with MoPar auto polish.

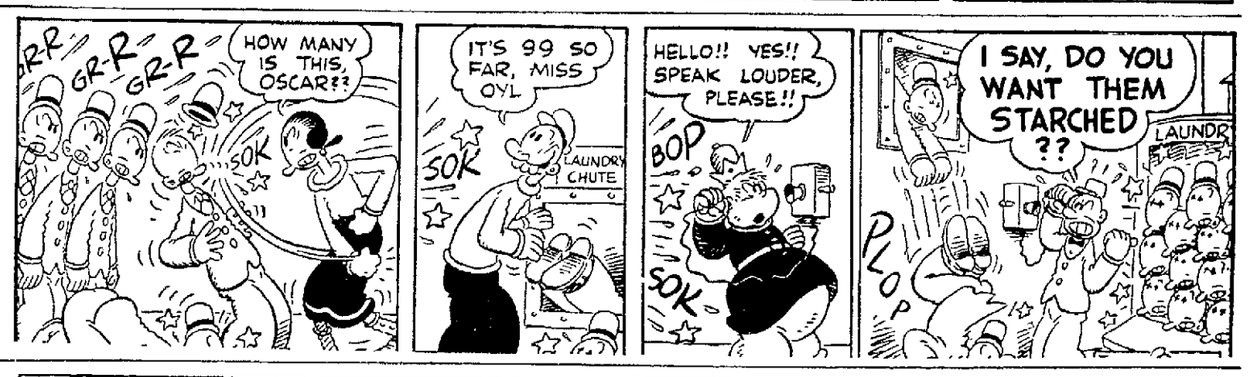
POPEYE



Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

Peter Rabbit was disappointed. He had gone to call on Old Mr. Toad in Farmer Brown's garden and couldn't find him. Sammy Jay said he had gone to sleep and Peter knew just what that meant. He would have to postpone that call until next spring.

"I suppose," said Peter, "that he is somewhere in this garden."

"I suppose," replied Sammy gravely, "that he is."

"I suppose," continued Peter, "that he dug in and buried himself."

"I suppose," replied Sammy, "that that is just what he did. Doesn't he always do that for the winter?"

"But it isn't winter yet," protested Peter.

"If he waited until winter how could he dig in?" asked Sammy. "He is like the Squirrel cousins, Paddy the Beaver and some others," he added.

"How so? He doesn't lay up food for the winter. He isn't thrifty," retorted Peter.

"But he prepares for the winter just the same, and that is what they do. He prepares by burying himself while he can, digging in before the ground becomes frozen," said Sammy.

"Have you ever seen him dig in?" asked Peter.

"Never for the winter, but I suppose he does it the same way he does when he wants to get out of sight in summer and there is nothing to crawl under. I've seen him do it more than once. He just digs in backward a little way and pulls the hole in after him," chuckled Sammy Jay.

Peter nodded. "I've seen him do it. I suppose that for winter he just keeps on digging and backing down. Have you ever wondered how he can breathe buried like that?" replied Peter.

"No," said Sammy. "Perhaps he doesn't have to breathe. There are so many things to wonder about that one could spend all one's time wondering and then be no wiser than before. So I've given up wondering. Perhaps you have time for it, but I haven't."

"Huh! What have you to do that makes your time so important?" said Peter.

"For one thing I must put away some of those sweet beechnuts and acorns over in the Green Forest where those greedy Squirrels won't find them. For another thing I must keep an eye on them and find out where they are hiding some of what they find. It may be handy to know in the winter when other food becomes hard to find," replied Sammy.

"Huh!" exclaimed Peter once more. "Don't tell me that you are pretending to be thrifty, Sammy Jay."

"I'm not pretending," snapped Sammy. "I am thrifty if hiding a few nuts and acorns is thrift. There is one thing you haven't learned yet, Peter Rabbit, and I guess you never will."

"What?" demanded Peter.

"Never to judge others by yourself," retorted Sammy Jay. Spreading his blue wings he flew away toward the Green Forest. A few minutes later Peter heard him crying, "Thief! Thief! Thief!"

Peter chuckled. "I wonder who the thief really is, himself or one of the Squirrel folks," said he, and started for the Smiling Pool.

It was a long time since he had been there. Before he got there he had a feeling that something was missing. When he was on the bank where he could look all over the Smiling Pool, that feeling was stronger than before. At first he couldn't think what it was he missed. Then it came to him. It was the deep voice of Grandfather Frog. The Smiling Pool seemed strangely silent. Not only was Grandfather Frog's voice missing but also the chorus of the other Frog folk. Many times in summer those voices had been stilled by the approach of danger, but somehow this stillness was different. It gave Peter the feeling that it was a stillness that would last for a long, long time. It brought back to Peter that lonesome feeling that the leaving of so many of his feathered friends for the Sunny South had given him.

The next story: "Too Busy to Talk."

WILBUR HAS BEEN TREATING NICODEMUS WITH NOXAGE WATER?
YES, AND IF IT GETS OUT NOBODY WILL BUY THE STUFF
WHY? HASN'T NOXAGE DONE WONDERS FOR THE HORSE?
SURE, BUT IT ISN'T HORSE MEDICINE!
THE PUBLICITY WOULD BE BAD FOR SALES
I CAN THINK OF WORSE — SUPPOSE NICODEMUS HAD A RELAPSE?
I'D DROWN MYSELF!
IN NOXAGE OF COURSE!

3 to Attend Convention

Three Mansfielders will attend the 44th annual convention of the Ohio Newspaper Women's association this weekend in Cincinnati.

Representing the city will be Mrs. Howard Wenning and Mrs. Jane Williams, both ex-Mansfield newspaperwomen, and Miss Marguerite Miller of the News-Journal editorial staff.

The convention will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday and is expected to attract 200 women.

Principal speaker at the Saturday evening dinner which will highlight the convention, will be Stephen C. Noland, editor of the Indianapolis News. In his talk, "Both Ways From the Border," Noland will describe conditions he found in Latin-American countries during a recent six-week tour.

The Saturday contest luncheon will see $1,000 in first and second prizes distributed to winners in competition for the best news stories and features. The money is divided among 44 contest classifications, covering every type of newspaper work from foreign correspondents to obituaries.

Tax Hearings Start Nov. 15

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Public hearings will be opened here Nov. 14 by the state tax department in a study of the state's revenues and allocations for presentation to the new legislature when it meets next January.

The legislature directed State Tax Commissioner C. Emory Glander to conduct a study of the present system of taxation, tax resources and revenues and the allocation of the receipts.

Glander said hearings would be held in other sections of the state if they were found necessary.
